Big-mouth hubby trounced by wife in four sporting events

Weaker sex gets tough!

A loud-mouthed hubby who put down the "weaker sex" got his comeuppance when his wife challenged him to a contest of four sporting events — and he collapsed partway through the competition.

The unidentified father of three, 34, wound up in a hospital suffering from exhaustion after he passed out during the third event, a three-mile bicycle race. His physician said he was lucky he didn't suffer a heart attack.

By ROBIN LAND

"He was badly out of condition and overweight," said Dr. Habib ibn Shamil, an internist in a suburban hospital near Kuwait where the man is undergoing treatment.

"He was admitted suffering from heat exhaustion, sunstroke, chest pains and dehydration."

The man had voiced his views several times previously and was well-known as a champion of male superiority, the internist said.

According to Shamil, his patient — an American oil company employee on temporary assignment to Kuwait — was challenged by the little woman after he announced at a neighborhood barbecue that women were inferior to men in every recognized sport.

"The neighbors told him they thought his wife could beat him," said Shamil.

"I guess he felt he had to accept the challenge."

The couple agreed to a match involving four sporting events — a one-mile run, two sets of tennis, a three-mile bicycle race and three laps of an Olympic size swimming pool.

The little lady got her licks in.

On the day of the competition, she came in four minutes ahead of her husband in the one-mile run — and was greeted by a chorus of cheers from all of her encouraging neighbors. In the tennis match, the 32-year-old wife won hands down, with an impressive score of 6-0, 6-1.

The bicycle race was well under way and the mighty missus was outdistancing her husband by a half mile when her macho mate fell by the wayside.

"He may have tried to overdo because it was obvious most of his neighbors were rooting for his wife," Shamil said.

"He apparently was a big beer drinker whose idea of exercise was a round trip from the television to the refrigerator.

"In his condition, he really should never have undertaken the competition.

"His wife may have been female, but she was far superior to her husband in stamina and conditioning."

Julia Morse seems to be fully equipped for her chosen career. "I'd love to be a full-time model," says Julia of Barry, England.

'Toy' pistol a real blast

A 39-year-old worker at a charity agency picked up the "toy" gun out of a bunch of donated goods, pulled the trigger — and shot co-worker Mary Kelly in the face.

The 24-year-old Montgomery, Ala., woman was taken to the hospital where doctors removed a .22 caliber bullet lodged below her left nostril.

"She is a very lucky individual. There's no doubt about it," said John A. Walter, director of Goodwill Industries where the bizarre shooting happened.

He said the other employee thought the pistol was a plaything and never realized it was a real one.

"It's an unfortunate event," Walter said.

Fast food fats may cause heart attacks

That fast-food burger and fries you wolf down at lunchtime may have you heading for a heart attack, a new report claims.

Tests show that many fast-food restaurants are using highly saturated fat — beef fat — to fry potatoes, chicken and even pies, according to The Center for Science in the Public Interest in Washington.

"After all these warnings, after all these years, these companies are still frying foods in fats that are conducive to heart disease," said the center's executive director, Michael Jacobson. "I think it's the height of corporate irresponsibility."

"Beef fat is loaded with saturated fatty acids. It increases blood cholesterol levels and the risk of heart attack."

Jacobson wants the fast-food fat for frying, or at least list it on labels to warn consumers.

The center analyzed the saturated fat content of fast foods to come up with a list of fast-food restaurants that spell trouble for the heart.

And in their report, they revealed that Arby's, Big Boy, Burger King, Hardee's, McDonald's, Popeye's and Wendy's all use beef tallow or beef tallow mixed with up to 10 percent vegetable oil to fry their foods.

The chains which turned out to be better for your heart were Church's, D'Lites, Kentucky Fried Chicken, Long John Silver, Red Lobster and Rustler — which use heavily hydrogenated vegetable oil — Papa Gino's, which use moderately hydrogenated vegetable oil.

Here are the center's figures on the fat content found in popular fast foods around the country:

- Arby's deluxe potato: 38 grams of fat.
- Burger King Whopper with cheese, french fries and vanilla shake: 67 grams.
- Hardee's Cheeseburger, french fries, soda: 30 grams.
- Hardee's large french fries: 17 grams.
- McDonald's Chicken McNuggets: 19 grams.
- McDonald's Big Mac, milk shake, french fries: 53 grams.
- Roy Rogers breakfast crescent sandwich with ham: 42 grams.
- Wendy's Double Cheeseburger, french fries, Frosty

Cops call it the most bizarre suicide in history

The last thing Ronald Dale Messenger ever saw was a huge furniture truck speeding into the rope he had looped around his neck, tied to a guard rail and stretched across the highway at bumper level!

Death came instantly for the 27-year-old man from Winston-Salem, N.C., said cops, who called the stunningly successful scheme one of the most bizarre in the annals of suicide.

By DEREK CLONTZ

State Highway Patrol Sgt. David Nelson said the sheer sophistication of the strategy — evidenced by the elaborate loops and ties in the rope — indicated that Messenger had masterminded his demise in advance.

"You see some really amazing things in my business," said the cop, "and this was one of them. He went to a lot more trouble to tie and loop that rope than he had to.

"The way I figure it, he fixed it like he did to keep from getting jerked all over the place. It worked, too. His neck snapped and he went straight down."

Nelson said Messenger had attempted suicide on several occasions in the past, and on the night of his death, told his wife he was going to give it another go.

He drove out of Winston-Salem and along Highway 158, said Nelson, until he came to a particularly dark spot with guard railing on both sides of the road.

"He tied the rope to the railing on one side of the road, walked across and looped it around the other railing, then walked back and tied the loose end around his neck," said Nelson. "Then he waited."

Given the time of day and what is known about traffic on the highway, Messenger probably stood by the side of the road, contemplating his death, for 30 minutes, Nelson said.

The driver of the truck was not identified.

But he told investigators that by the time he saw Messenger and the rope it was too late to stop.

"He turned around and went back as soon as he could," said Nelson. "I don't think he realized just what had happened even when he saw the victim.

"But of course, when our trooper got there he knew exactly what was going on."

The driver was not charged in Messenger's death, which the county coroner officially ruled a suicide, Nelson said.

Morning is bad for the heart

More people have heart attacks around 9 a.m. than any other time of day, a startling new study shows.

Researchers from Harvard Medical School and four other institutions discovered that the highest-risk period for heart attacks is between 6 a.m. and 9 a.m., with the peak period at 9 o'clock.

The least risky time is at night, around 11 o'clock, they discovered.

The findings were based on a study of 2,999 heart attack patients.

But the researchers, reporting in the New England Journal of Medicine, say they don't know why morning is more dangerous than night.

"We're not ready to say people shouldn't jog in the morning," said Dr. James E. Miller, author of the study. "We don't have the information yet to recommend changes in lifestyle."

The researchers said they found lower levels of a natural blood thinner in the body during the morning hours.

That may account for the higher incidence of attacks. Changes in the autonomic nervous system that controls automatic functions such as breathing might also be a factor, the doctor said.

Muller said docs who treat heart attack victims probably don't even notice that most attacks occur in the morning. "Doctors tend to remember the heart attacks that they get awakened for in the middle of the night," he said.

"If the peak had been at midnight, we would have discovered this 30 years ago."

She had $83G stashed — in peanut butter jars

A team of workers cleaning up after a flood expected to find canned goods in 83-year-old Virginia Ridenour's kitchen cupboards, but imagine their surprise when they uncovered jars filled with money.

Revenge of the fat lady

A furious fat woman got back at a waiter who made light of her flabby frame by leaving a suggestive brown package for him — in the seat of her chair!

Seems the lady had ordered an expensive lamb dinner at a glittering London eatery and then complained about the skimpy portion that arrived at her table.

The griping didn't set well with the waiter, who snapped: "We keep the portions small so that ladies like you won't get any fatter."

Not the type to take such an insult sitting down, the woman ordered a dark brown chocolate mousse, which was arranged in whirls, for dessert. Thinking the mousse looked

COFFIN SHOCKER!

A widower who says his late wife feared "that her coffin would not be airtight and would be invaded by worms, maggots and other types of bugs," filed a $300,000 lawsuit after fluid began leaking from the coffin in her above-ground crypt.

Outraged widower sues claiming his wife's casket is a lemon!

Rogelio Santirzo of Tampa, Fla., filed suit against a casket manufacturer and a cemetery, saying they showed "wanton disregard for his deceased wife's body."

Santirzo's wife, Ondina, died in August 1984 at the age of 64.

Before her death, Mrs. Santirzo, who suffered from diabetes and breast cancer, told her husband "that she wanted her body disturbed and handled as little as possible" because she'd "endured much pain and many physical insults as a result of many years of illness."

Because of his wife's fears and wishes, Santirzo did not have her body embalmed. She was entombed in an above-ground crypt in an $823 casket that was supposed to be airtight and "suitable for bodies not embalmed."

But Santirzo, 62, said he later noticed the outside of his wife's crypt "becoming stained by some kind of fluid."

Santirzo's suit claims that the cemetery failed to properly seal and maintain the crypt.

"They removed the casket and placed it in an aluminum box, then put it back into the crypt," said Patrick Dekle, Santirzo's lawyer. "The casket manufacturer offered to replace the casket, but Mr. Santirzo does not want to disturb his wife's remains."

Hair today, gone tomorrow

Wehtahnah Tucker's high-rise hairdo raised so many eyebrows that school officials shuffled her off to the counselor's office and kept her there — to keep her fellow seventh-graders from gaping.

Wehtahnah, 12, spent five days studying in "solitary confinement" before combing her coiffure down to size and rejoining her classmates at Spring Oaks Junior High School in Houston.

"They even bring me my lunch," she complained during her stay in isolation.

School isolates teen till she tones down her coiffure

At first Wehtahnah vowed to stick with her stuck-up hairstyle.

But before long she relented and adopted a style more acceptable to vice principal Dennis Reed.

"The teacher has to be the center of attention in the classroom," Reed said. "We can't have the class disrupted by someone in odd getup.

"Wehtahnah is a fine student. She's not a troublemaker, but we couldn't have her sitting in class looking like that."

CENTER OF ATTENTION: Wehtahnah Tucker.

Why workers become depressed

When people get depressed on the job, half the time it's what's happening at home that's to blame, a fascinating new study shows.

The strain of juggling a career and family was at the root of the blues suffered by 43 percent of workers questioned by social work professors Bradley Googins and Dianne Burden of Boston University.

"The primary factor related to depression was the number of hours spent at home on family responsibilities," explained Dr. Burden, who polled 700 employees of a Boston corporation to come up with her findings.

"And it was married women parents who had the most trouble. They spent 85 hours a week on job and family, compared to about 65 hours a week for married and single fathers, and 75 hours a week for single mothers."

One third of employees surveyed by Dr. Burden and her colleague confessed to spending part of the working day worrying about the kids. That's possibly because a high percentage of school-age children were "latchkey kids" who were not enrolled in formal day care, the professors found.

Other fascinating findings from the survey:

- Eighty-eight percent of employees rated their job performances as "very high," but only 56 percent thought their performance as parents was as good.
- Women employees were four times as likely to stay home with their sick kids as male employees were.
- Only 13 percent of families had a mother at home full-time.

"The world isn't set up to have two parents at work," commented Dr. Googins. "It's a struggle."

He and Dr. Burden recommended that employers consider providing more flexible work hours and child care benefits for employees who are parents.

Nice duet, but no sale

Bleary-eyed Richard Yount complained to his neighbors and the law that the dogs next door were keeping him awake all night.

But cops in Hudson, Fla., said they couldn't do a thing unless they caught the dogs in the act of barking. Finally, Yount marched into the police station carrying a tape recording of the dogs barking.

Authorities agreed the mutts were making quite a racket, but they told Yount even that bit of evidence would do him no good — because he couldn't prove when or where he recorded the canine chorus.

Virgin Mary vision draws millions to tiny village

HUGE CROWDS have come to witness the Virgin Mary's miraculous appearances.

Three million religious pilgrims have been drawn to a tiny Yugoslavian village — because of the miraculous, recurring vision of the Virgin Mary.

The amazing apparition has appeared every evening at the same time for four years before four young people in the hamlet of Medjugorje.

Originally, the fantastic phenomenon was seen by four awe-struck girls and two boys. Two of the original six have stopped witnessing the experience, saying the vision ended when the Virgin told them 10 secrets.

But the remaining four — now aged from 14 to 21 — report seeing the vision wherever they are at 5:45 p.m. in the winter or 6:45 p.m. in the summer.

Their incredible story has attracted tourists from every corner of the world and has meant big bucks to embarrassed commie bigwigs.

"Yugoslavian and foreign tourists attend such manifestations," said Dusan Dragosavac, a member of the Presidium of the League of Yugoslav Communists.

"Some Yugoslav tourist organizations organize tours there," he said. "They are interested in earning profits and don't care whether they bring faithful or atheists. They are tourists. We have no illusions. Religion is here and will be here for a long time."

Townsfolk have always gone to mass daily, but now go twice a day because of the vision, said Simun Ivankovic, uncle of one of the youths.

"We used to curse a lot, but not any more," he said. "But the family still drinks its large pitcher of wine a day."

After plane smashes into mountain . . .

MIRACLE MOM DELIVERS HER OWN TRIPLETS

A courageous young mother survived a plane crash, the birth of triplets and 17 days on a freezing mountain before she and her babies were rescued, authorities say.

Brave Barbara Hammond Escovar, 31 — an American whose Venezuelan husband was killed in the plane crash — could have walked to safety at any time during her ordeal, but risked her life to stay with the infants until help came, according to press reports from Lima, Peru.

Devoted woman stays 17 days at crash site nursing babies

"She is suffering from a broken arm, exposure and a mild infection, but overall she is in good shape," said Dr. Antonio Perez Caldera, who is treating Mrs. Escovar. "The babies are well, thanks to Mrs. Escovar's devotion. She kept them warm and dry and fed while she waited for help."

Mrs. Escovar was aboard a small private plane with her husband Rogelio, a businessman, and his partner Herbert Delgado, 43, when the single-engine craft crashed near Junin, Peru. The group had been bound for Lima from Caracas, Venezuela, when the engine malfunctioned and they smashed into the foothills of the Andes.

"Mrs. Escovar was seated in the rear of the plane and escaped with only a broken arm," Dr. Caldera said. "But her husband and Delgado, the pilot, were killed.

"The trauma of the crash brought on the early delivery of her triplets, which were due in December — about three weeks after the wreck. Fortunately the babies were sufficiently developed that they could survive on their own."

The courageous young mom delivered her babies in the wreckage of the plane two hours after the crash, Caldera said. She then built a makeshift shelter for her infants and covered them with clothing taken from her husband and Delgado.

Unwilling to leave her three children and unable to carry them to safety, the young mother spent 17 days at the site of the crash, tending to her babies. She could see the lights miles away, and never gave up hope of a rescue.

"She survived by eating wild vegetation and bark for nourishment," Dr. Caldera told newsmen.

"The plane carried 20 gallons of water and she was able to tap that for drinking.

"Her worst problem was the weather.

"At night, temperatures on the mountainside reached as low as 28 degrees. She had no matches for a fire, but she kept as warm as she could by huddling with the babies in the wreckage."

Rescue workers found the wreckage of the plane 16 days after the aircraft went down. A day later, a search team found Mrs. Escovar and her infants — Maria Louisa, Raul and Lisabeta — beside the shattered plane.

"It's incredible that they survived at all, let alone in such good condition," said rescue official, Ramon de Pavlo. "Mrs. Escovar kept her head and saved all their lives by staying close to the plane and waiting for help. She's an amazing woman."

Convicted killer gets to choose how he will die

When convicted killer Ronnie Lee Gardner was sentenced to death, he was allowed to choose the way he would die. His answer wasn't unexpected — "I prefer to die of old age," he said.

'Old age,' he jokes

"But if that ain't possible," he added, "I'll take the firing squad."

In Utah, persons condemned to die may choose between a firing squad or death by lethal injection.

Gardner, 24, was convicted of killing a lawyer during an unsuccessful courthouse escape bid last April.

When convicted, Gardner showed no emotion until he turned to prosecutors and asked with a wink, "Are you guys happy?"

At his sentencing in Salt Lake City, Judge Jay Banks set the execution date for December 20. Automatic stays for appeal, however, will delay the Open season on burglars!

A hard-nosed judge excused himself from presiding over the trial of a homeowner accused of rigging a booby trap that blew away a burglar, saying:

. . . with no bag limit

"As far as I'm concerned, it's open season on burglars with no bag limit."

District Judge Bob Downing in Baton Rouge, La., admitted he was too prejudiced to hear the case against Jeffrey Britt, 58, who is charged with second-degree murder in the shooting death of neighbor Bradley Cavell, 21.

As reported in The NEWS June 25, a bullet from a spring-loaded .44 Magnum attached to Britt's back door killed Cavell. The body — with gloves on both hands — stayed where it had fallen for eight incredible months.

"I have made up my mind that Mr. Britt is innocent," said Judge Downing. "My sympathies are with homeowners who shoot burglars.

"I feel very strongly that a man's home is his castle," he said.

"And he has every right to protect it."

Cops said Britt told them he had a fear of being burglarized and had been robbed several times.

He has pleaded innocent to the charge.

Judge Downing released Britt on $50,000 bond despite objections from the victim's mother, Ann Cavell. She called Britt an "evil, calculating man" in a $1.5-million wrongful death suit filed by the family against Britt.

During the eight months her son's decomposing body was on Britt's back porch, she said Britt visited them and chatted about selling a motorcycle and getting someone to mow his lawn.

On the very day two neighborhood youths found her boy's rotting remains, Mrs. Cavell said another son was mowing Britt's yard.

Clobbered in court

Cameron Hooker listens as Superior Court Judge Clarence Knight sentences him in Redwood City, Calif. Hooker faces 104 years in prison for kidnapping a woman and keeping her a slave for 7½ years.

When her man walked out the roof caved in

When Carol Frohbeiter's hubby walked out on her, the roof caved in and life has become one disaster after another.

Since then, she was arrested eight times and now faces four years in prison after she was convicted of burglary.

Now wife's facing 4 years in prison

"All I've got is $3.10 and four years in the slammer," said the 38-year-old Wheaton, Ill., divorcee.

The woman's tragic tale began when her husband Scott moved out and got an apartment with a girlfriend. He took a lot of common property with him, says the ex-wife, and she took steps to get it back.

"The first time I was arrested was for driving my own husband's car," Mrs. Frohbeiter said. "He was out of town and I took it. The girlfriend saw it was missing and called the sheriff."

The miffed mom's career of crime went on from there. She was arrested for bending her hubby's girlfriend's windshield wipers. She was arrested for trying to get a credit card in her husband's name. Her troubles with the law eventually cost her custody of her sons, who went with their father when he moved away to Texas.

All of her offenses were misdemeanors — except for her last, a felony.

"I went to his apartment while he was out of town," she recalled. "I wanted to get some of my things. He had taken my entire wardrobe — underwear, shoes, the whole bit.

"I broke the door down with a crowbar," the divorcee recalled.

After raiding the apartment, Mrs. Frohbeiter called the sheriff and told them what she'd done. The next day cops came with a warrant for her arrest on charges of residential burglary — an offense that carries a mandatory sentence of four years in the state of Illinois.

Prosecutors offered to let the divorcee off on probation in return for a guilty plea — but Mrs. Frohbeiter refused.

"I wouldn't plea bargain for any amount of money," she said. "It was a matter of principle. I wanted to be fully exonerated. This belonged in divorce court."

Six hours after receiving LOURDES MEDAL
Cash-starved woman receives
$75,000.00 MIRACLE!

My name is Lora Haber.

Not too long ago, I had terrible financial problems.

Money was all I could think about. It would take a Miracle, I thought, to get me out of my hole.

Then I started thinking. . . a Miracle. Perhaps I could enjoy a Miracle.

I heard somewhere of a Miracle Site in France called Lourdes. I learned that FOUR MILLION PEOPLE go there every year. To be near the Lourdes "Miracle" Waters. And what Miracles!

Even scientists and religious leaders admit that Miracles happen at Lourdes. The blind come to regain their sight. The deaf to hear again. The crippled to walk once more. The poor to find money rewards. AND NOT ONE MIRACLE-SEEKER, it turns out, reported disappointment with these wonder-working Waters.

I wished I could go to Lourdes, France to enjoy a Miracle. But I couldn't afford it—I didn't have the money.

That's when I read the good news. LOURDES WATER COULD BE SENT TO ME. The water would be sealed into a Medal I'd wear or carry. Others who sent for this Medal had enjoyed wonderful Money Miracles—$20,000.00, $1,957.00, $3,400.00, $5,000.00, $2,100.00, and more.

Believe me. I'm not the kind of person who "buys" Good Luck stories. Or sends away for Lucky Charms.

But in my time of need, I felt I had to have the Lourdes Water near me.

Lucky for me I sent for the LOURDES MEDAL.

Do you know what happened when I got it? Within six hours, the LOURDES MEDAL brought me a $75,000.00 Miracle!

Because of this Miracle, I was able to buy a new house. A new car. My own beautiful Horse. And a lifetime vacation dream came true—to Hawaii.

I've agreed to publicize my experience to help others who are desperate for money. If you need a Money Miracle, I strongly advise you to do what I did—to send for the LOURDES MEDAL.

You're looking at a new happy Lora Haber, standing in front of her "Miracle" home (left) and astride her horse next to her new car (above). All smiles because of a $75,000.00 Miracle.

After volunteering to take part in a nightclub magician's act . . .

Girl vanishes into thin air!

Police say no one has seen her since

By ALAN PETERS

Baffled police have failed to come up with a rational explanation for the mysterious disappearance of a young woman who volunteered from the audience to take part in a nightclub magician's act — and vanished into thin air!

AFTER levitating the girl the magician put her in a wooden crate for his next trick — and she vanished.

"This is the sort of case that either makes an investigator's career or makes him a laughing stock," said Inspector Frans Paeleman. "I wish I had the answer to this riddle. I don't like to be laughed at."

Paeleman said that the strange case involves the disappearance of Marie Gabriel, a 21-year-old art student, who stepped out of a nightclub audience and into oblivion when she offered to assist a magician in his performance at a small lounge on the outskirts of Brussels, Belgium.

"Miss Gabriel and her young man, Henri Meerts, were out on the town that evening to celebrate their engagement," Inspector Paeleman said. "The couple had stopped in for a drink and decided to catch the magician's show that was just beginning."

The investigator said that when The Amazing Abdul asked for a volunteer from the audience, Miss Gabriel raised her hand and went up on stage.

"You might say that The Amazing Abdul is past his prime as a magician," Paeleman said. "His real name is Hassan Yata. He's 57 years old and originally from Morocco. At one time he was pretty famous, but for the past several years he has barely made a living performing in run-down clubs all over Europe." According to witnesses, The Amazing Abdul had Miss Gabriel lie down in a coffin-sized box and attempted a trick in which the woman appears to be sawed in half.

"The saw got stuck in the box and the audience got a big laugh out of it," Paeleman said. "The magician gave up on that trick and tried to levitate Miss Gabriel above the stage. That didn't work either. She fell to the ground and the audience roared."

At that point, Paeleman said The Amazing Abdul tried to save his act by making the woman vanish inside a wooden crate the size of a phone booth.

"He put her in the box, tapped it three times and opened the door," Paeleman said. "The box appeared to be empty and the audience clapped. He then closed the door, tapped three more times on the side and opened the door again. Miss Gabriel was supposed to reappear, but she didn't."

The inspector said the audience thought it was all part of the act, applauding as the panicked magician tore the box apart on stage before abruptly ordering the curtain dropped.

"Miss Gabriel's fiance went backstage expecting to find his bride-to-be with the magician, but she wasn't there," Paeleman said. "By the time we arrived at the club Mr. Meerts was ready to kill The Amazing Abdul."

Paeleman said the vanishing box uses a hidden panel to make it appear that the person inside has disappeared. Officers dismantled the box, but found no trace of Miss Gabriel.

"Stagehands said they did not see her slip offstage during the performance and the magician says he simply doesn't know what happened," the inspector said.

"At first we thought it was a publicity stunt, but The Amazing Abdul is so shaken up that he has retired from show business," Paeleman said.

"I am not a child and I do not believe in magic, but it has been three weeks since Miss Gabriel disappeared and there has been no clue as to what

Super-duper builder Donald Trump — creator of the posh Trump Tower — now wants to build the world's tallest building in the Big Apple.

His plans call for a gigantic 150-story, 1,910-foot building which would dwarf the current "world's tallest" Sears Tower of Chicago.

Trump's overall master plan for the 100-acre tract once railroad freight yards, also includes six, 76-story apartment buildings and a gigantic television studio structure and a 40-acre park.

The plans hinge on Trump's gaining zoning variances and special tax breaks. If all goes well, Trump

● HUNDREDS OF DOLLARS IN 45 MINUTES! I have a report here from Mary D. who needed $400 quickly. She had no idea where she could get the needed money. Her sister gave her a Psychic Telemetry Enchantment to say. In only 45 minutes, she received $400 from an unexpected source!

That's chickenfeed compared to the staggering results many others have achieved with these magic words! Dave E. had been unable to find a job, and had only 3 days left before having to pay a big bill. He didn't have a cent. In one session, I showed him how to use the Psychic Telemetry Prosperity Ritual. The next morning, he was all smiles, as he reported a sudden windfall of $2,000—more than enough to pay the bill. A miracle? Of course! Yet just a very average example of the power of these magic words!

Dave used the Prosperity Ritual at about 9:00 P.M. At 8:00 A.M. the following morning, he got the money! As simple as that! I HAVE HUNDREDS OF CASES ON FILE, PROVING HOW EASILY MIRACLES HAPPEN with these magic words! Before I give you the next case, let me say this: DO YOU NEED MONEY? HOW AGNES C. WON OVER $500,000 WITH THE WORDS FOR WINNING CONTESTS!

Agnes C. was told about enchantments and spells, but insisted that she possessed no psychic powers and never had any psychic experiences. Here's what happened: she kept dreaming of a man in a flowing robe with dollar signs all over it, holding up 7 fingers, saying: "A dollar a day keeps poverty away!" She purchased a one-dollar lottery ticket.

"I simply could not believe it when my number was drawn for the grand prize (7 days later). I still can't believe it," she says. "I won over a half-million dollars." Agnes and her family are now enjoying their new fabulous home with its private boathouse and dock. They have two expensive autos and all the other luxuries money can buy.

The point is: YOU CAN USE THE SAME SECRET! You'll find the very words she used on page 37 of my book, and it won't cost you a single cent to find out what they are, and how they'll work for you.

MAGIC WORDS FOR MIRACLE HEALING!

Before I tell you how YOU may achieve a MIRACLE HEALING, let me tell you how a man was healed of arthritis in FIFTEEN MINUTES! A friend of mine, Louie A., used the power Ritual for Magnetic Healing on page 146 on his next-door neighbor, Ken, who was confined to a wheelchair with arthritis. In a matter of minutes, the crippled man was WALKING! "I haven't been able to walk for months," he said, "and you got me out of my wheelchair."

Since that day, Louie has been able to heal "incurable" diseases! AND YOU CAN DO THE VERY SAME THING! This is just an average case. With this power, you can command healings like this on almost a daily basis. I'm telling you this power is FANTASTIC!

Look what you can do, with exact words I give you on page 139-148—

- Cure ulcers, nervous headache, and insomnia! Calm the nerves!
- Cure diseases of the liver and spleen—stop bleeding!
- Strengthen the eyes, control epilepsy and disorders of the stomach!
- Cure heart disease, increase circulation, and heal gout!
- Heal burns, conditions of the nose, throat and sinus, treat hay fever and asthma!

. . . and much more! With these words, you ask great rays of healing power to enfold you, pulsating within every nerve and cell of your body, cleansing, soothing and healing! Whatever you are trying to heal, you know the job will be done.

MIRACLE CURES REPORTED!

Do you realize that it is possible to get rid of crippling ailments almost instantly with healing words? You can command that all sickness and disease be banished from your body! Here is a force so powerful that it almost defies description! It can heal a withered limb or return sight to the blind . . . raise the crippled from their beds! It has brought miracle cures to the suffering and the lame!

● KIDNEYS MIRACULOUSLY HEALED! Evelina's only hope was to find a suitable kidney donor. She was so weak, it took two people to almost carry her to the hospital for her frequent treatments. There seemed to be little hope for her. With this method, she says—

"My whole body began to tingle—it felt like little electric shocks were playing games at the small of my back . . . suddenly . . . I knew I was healed! I leapt from my bed and ran into the living room screaming, 'I'M HEALED, I'M HEALED!' Our house was filled with tears of joy that night."

Today she is so healthy, she can hike and even climb mountains! It happens all the time with PSYCHIC TELEMETRY!

● HOW HARVEY C.'s ASTHMA WAS CURED! Harvey C. suffered asthma all his life. He could never run more than a few steps, without gasping for breath. Doctors were unable to cure it. I was so positive Harvey's asthma could be cured, I merely had him say the words on page 139-140. He never had another asthma attack! Now he can run and even play tennis!

● HAROLD SAW HIS LUNG SPOT VANISH! Harold F. was shocked, when told he had a spot on his lung, and needed an immediate operation. His wife quickly used the amazing healing words on page 143. The day before the operation, when x-rays were taken, the doctor was baffled. "I don't know how to explain this," he said. "Your lungs are perfectly clear."

MAGIC FORCES THAT WORK MIRACLES

Once you call on them, powerful forces stand ready to fulfill your every command. You can be confident that they will work a miracle.

● HOW ALLEN F. WON $800 AT THE CRAP TABLE AFTER USING THE MAGIC WORDS ON PAGE 39! Allen F. needed $800 by Monday morning. It was Friday already, and things looked hopeless. He's never been inside a gambling casino and knew nothing about roulette, craps, or blackjack, but he had a strange urge to try it. With only $5, he said the magic words on page 22, turned silently, and headed for the crap table. He threw the dice, and it came up 7. He tried it again and again. A crowd gathered. The dice were changed, but he kept throwing 7's. He walked away with $800!

Anyone can use these magic words. When you use them, what you command does happen! You can count positively on real results. It always works! It is not evil—nor is it Black Magic. Like electricity, it is simply a power given by nature to make life easier!

● MAGIC WORDS GIVE YOU POWER OVER OTHERS! Say the magic words on page 44 to make others do your bidding. With this Enchantment, you send forth mystic rays of power to impress those whom you command to bend to your will at all times. It makes other people like putty in your hands! No one can resist you! Let me show you how easily this happens!

To use this power is simplicity itself! Say the magic words—then just sit back and relax. Within seconds, minutes at most, you will have a willing, obedient slave!

You can stand next to a person and place a thought in his or her mind. When others are asleep, you are free to speak directly to their subconscious mind. Your voice is remembered upon awakening. People obey your commands. It's fantastic!

● MAGIC WORDS THAT BRING YOU LOVE! Say the magic words on page 47, to command and guide the perfect partner to you . . . to command him or her to be blind to your shortcomings, and fulfill your every need and your every desire!

● MAGIC WORDS FOR SECRET KNOWLEDGE! The magic words on page 164 allow you to become an invisible traveler to anywhere in the world. You can listen to conversations and you can see what's going on, completely undetected. You will experience the ability to walk through walls and doors. Nothing can be kept secret from you—there is no longer such a thing as a locked door. You can enter any place at will. If you wish to know about others, you can secretly and invisibly watch their every move and hear their every word!

Born 41 minutes apart, the brothers were inseparable

The twins who shared everything — even DEATH!

By JOE BERGER

For eight incredible decades, twin brothers Raman and Govindan Govindrama were inseparable sidekicks who used the same toothbrush, drank from the same cup, ate from the same bowl, slept in the same bed — and even shared the same wife!

The togetherness twins were seldom out of each other's sight from the day they were born just 41 minutes apart until the day they died — again just 41 minutes apart.

"Govindan and Raman were so close they were almost like one person in two bodies," said long-time pal Prasad Chimire. "I never saw one without the other. They worked in the fields together and shopped at the market together and ate every meal together from the same dishes. They even bathed together. And through all the years, I never saw them squabble or complain."

The brothers' bizarre journey through life began 81 years ago when they were born into a poor farming family in the Indian state of Kerala.

"Their parents told me the boys refused to leave each other's side from the time they were babies," said village doctor D.M. Kar.

"When one was sick, the other was always sick with the same complaint. Later in life it was the same.

"Both of them came down with pneumonia on the same day.

"And when Govindan got a broken finger, Raman insisted I put a splint on his finger, too."

The brothers stunned neighbors by taking the same woman as a wife in 1947.

But even that strange arrangement couldn't strain the bizarre bond between them, friends say.

"The three of them lived together in love and peace," Chimire said.

The astonishing tale came to an end the morning the twins' wife Minauti found both the brothers ailing and sent for Dr. Kar.

"When I arrived at the home I found them lying side by side in their bed," the doctor recalled. "As I tried to make them comfortable, Raman died.

"And only 41 minutes later Govindan died. They had been equals all through life, and at the end they had spent an equal amount of time on Earth — to the very minute."

TWINS shared all they had, even a wife. Old photo shows trio at a banquet.

Man with a bow and arrow ambushes a train, cops say

A man who claims to be a Blackfoot Indian is charged with aggravated assault after he stopped a speeding Amtrak train and fired on railroad officials with a bow and arrow, police said.

The investigators in Salem, Ill., said 30-year-old Charles Branch stacked railroad ties on the tracks in the path of a southbound passenger train traveling at 90 miles an hour.

Charles Sanders, Marion County Sheriff, said the train's engineer began braking when he spotted the ties on the tracks and had slowed to about 50 miles per hour when he plowed into them.

While the Amtrak train, bound for Centralia with about 90 passengers aboard, stopped for minor repairs, railroad officials arrived on the scene to investigate.

Three Illinois Central Gulf

ted a man wearing camouflage fatigues and armed with a bow and arrow.

"We were removing the ties when this guy just appeared in the bushes there on the west side of the track," said V.L. Tate. "He stood there for quite some time with the bow drawn and pointed.

"I was just thinking of how to get out of there without getting hurt," said Tate. "It wasn't too pleasant."

Lt. Gerald Benjamin, of the Marion County Sheriff's Office, said the man fired three arrows at the railroad officials, then dropped his bow and fled, with a railroad supervisor in pursuit.

"The guy pulled out a big Benjamin said. "He was running up to the road when I got there and he turned on me with the knife. I pulled out my .45 and explained very carefully what was going to happen if he didn't drop the knife."

Benjamin said the suspect initially refused to speak, using sign language to identify himself as a Blackfoot Indian from El Paso, Tex.

The man was later identified as Charles Branch of Orient, Ill., according to the lieutenant.

"He was planning to stop a coal train so he could hitch a ride, but instead this Amtrak train came along," said Benjamin.

Branch was charged with three counts of aggravated assault, criminal damage to property and unlawful use of a

"She's very special to me," confesses bubbly Boy. "She has a very special place in my heart."

Boy carved out a niche in the showbiz world by flaunting the idea of sexual confusion. Not only did he wear makeup and dresses for his singing act, but he openly dated men who dressed as women.

One of Boy's most striking companions was a statuesque, leggy brunette called Gemma.

Gemma looks like a movie starlet, but in reality is a man. Another of Boy's closest companions was gender-bender singer Marilyn.

And in interviews, Boy seemingly admitted being attracted to members of either sex. Now, he has once again shocked the rock world by falling for — of all things — a female.

Boy says he and his mystery gal met while he was in New York, where she currently works. Now she lives at his posh Manhattan apartment.

While neither wears the pants in the house, Boy is the one who wears the makeup.

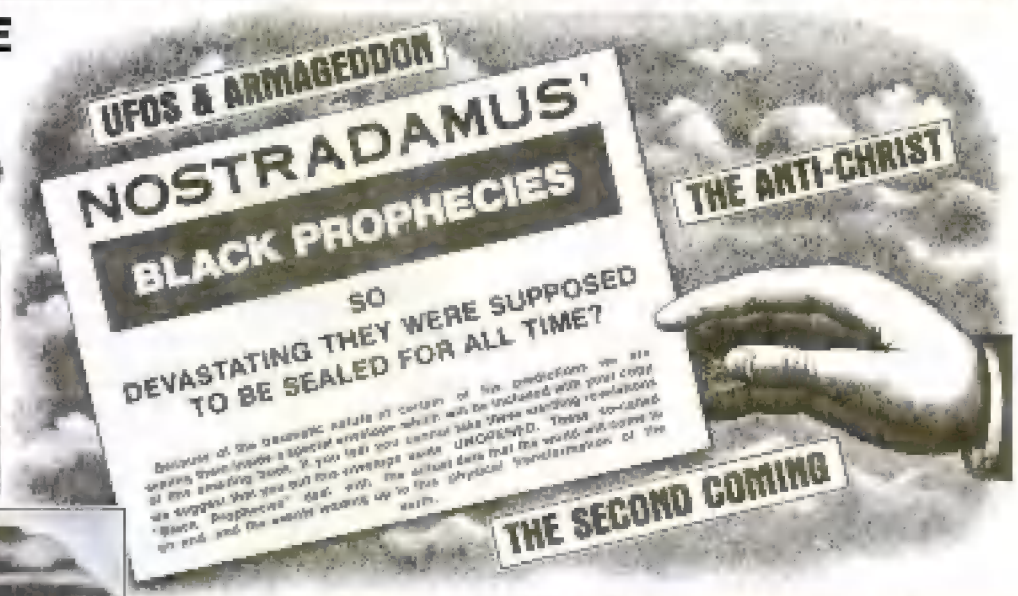
MAJOR EVENTS OF THE FUTURE REVEALED!

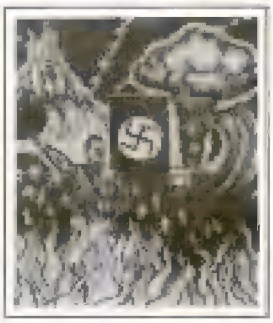
AN EXCLUSIVE HISTORICAL FIRST! HIS UNPUBLISHED PROPHECIES

DARE YOU READ THEM?



WAS HE A WIZARD? A SERVANT OF GOD? A SUPER PSYCHIC? A DEVIL WORSHIPPER? OR A BEING FROM ANOTHER PLANET

HIS PREDICTIONS WERE 100% ACCURATE



Nostradamus is credited with being the greatest prophet of modern, non-Biblical times. His uncanny, indepth, forecasts are considered to be highly accurate. Nostradamus, in the 16th century, predicted both World Wars, aerial battles, submarine attacks, Hitler's aggressions, and escape, as well as the assassination of both Kennedys'.

The man warned the world of the coming of the atomic bomb. He wrote of space flights, and about the rise and fall of Russia. In one of his most amazing predictions he revealed how Iran would be taken over by a religious fanatic while writing the following in rhymed quatrains: "Revolution, famine, war will not stop Persia (now Iran). Religious fanaticism will betray the monarch (the Shah). Of which the end will begin in Gaul (France)." Everybody knows that the Ayatollah Khomeini started his revolution while exiled in France.

For the future, Nostradamus predicts that there will be war in the Middle East in the next few years, during which the big powers will intervene. He even talks of the coming of the anti-Christ and how the U.S. and Russia will combine forces. If only for a brief period. He also speaks of a "religious war" and the Vatican having to move the tomb of St Peter to a safe place.

But, perhaps most astonishing of all, is the fact that Nostradamus saw his own death in time to help with the funeral arrangements!

THE MOST MYSTERIOUS MAN WHO EVER LIVED

Legend has it that celestial beings were extremely powerful for several nights before the birth of Nostradamus. Reports of bright, round objects in the sky over St Remy de Provence are recorded in the archives.

Nostradamus' birth itself was rather remarkable because Blanche Nostradame (the family's real name), presented her husband with a perfect baby in the 16th Century, perfect babies were almost unheard of. The mortality rate was very high.

He had an incredible memory. He was very young when he mastered several languages and advanced math. He became a licensed physician at 23. He walked among plague victims for months without catching the dread disease. With a strange mixture of herbs and ingredients unknown to the world, he was able to cure many of the afflicted. Thus becoming known throughout Europe as a miracle healer.

In his day, Nostradamus rivals friends with kings and queens who were impressed by his ability to see into the future. Royalty came far and wide to be in his presence, as anxious were they to know what the stars had in store for them. Many were disappointed as Nostradamus knew well in advance about beheadings, revolutions, and the untimeliness that abounded among society's most prominent figures.

THE SECOND COMING & THE ANTI-CHRIST

Though Nostradamus considered himself an expert astrologer, he studied the stars in a totally unique way. He used a special device when scribing. The device was basically a magic wand which he used in conjunction with a tripod of flame and bowl of water. Nostradamus also considered himself a very religious person, and while he was born a Jew, he later converted to the Catholic faith, utilizing mystical elements from both practices in his work. Many of his predictions dealt with the Second Coming and the appearance of the anti-Christ.

There are some who maintain that Nostradamus was a direct messenger of God, and that his predictions were divinely inspired. To give credence to this claim, the French seer was once introduced to a young Franciscan friar, a poor village lad, and upon meeting the youth dropped to his knees. Asked why he had done so, Nostradamus declared: "Because, I must bow and kneel before his Holiness." Years later, this youth became the Pope, under the title of Sixtus the Fifth.

Others believe that Nostradamus was a time traveler from the future, or perhaps a being from another planet. All these theories are explored in detail.

NOSTRADAMUS' UNPUBLISHED QUATRAINS

A curious manuscript has been making the rounds of Europe where books on Nostradamus have been frequent best sellers in recent months. Up till now none of this material has been released in the U.S.

Shortly before his death, Nostradamus apparently penned a series of prophecies so startling that he never had them included in any of his published works. Supposedly because he was afraid of the effect they might have. These predictions were circulated only to royalty and were thought destroyed for many years until they were uncovered, hidden in the basement of the house where Nostradamus died.

The title page of this newly discovered manuscript reads: "Century XII, Number 63." The seer's last supposedly quatrain, published, was "Century VII, Number 42." The assumption is that Nostradamus wrote more than twelve centuries, but had not revealed these predictions in his lifetime because he was afraid of the consequences.

Are they as startling as the rumors would have us believe? Are they as accurate as the seer's previous predictions? Are they as frightening

Two years after her mate slips into coma, shattered wife begs judge . . .

FOR GOD'S SAKE, LET MY HUSBAND DIE!

TRAGIC PLEA: Patricia Brophy, wife of coma victim Paul, wants the feeding tube removed from her mate's stomach.

More than two and a half years after her husband lapsed into a coma, a wife's tragic plea that he be allowed to die has been turned down by a judge.

Paul Brophy has been in a coma since March 1983, when he underwent surgery to repair a blood vessel that burst in his brain.

Doctors say the 48-year-old man from Easton, Mass., has no level of awareness and no hope of recovery.

Brophy's wife, Patricia, went to court, asking that a feeding tube inserted in her husband's stomach be removed so that he could die.

But Judge David Kopelman turned down the request, ruling that the court's concern centered "on the quality of the treatment furnished to Brophy, and not on the quality of the coma victim's life."

In a 44-page decision, Judge Kopelman said that because Brophy is not terminally ill and could live for years, removing his feeding tube would mean "the court is pronouncing judgment that Brophy's life is not worth preserving."

Brophy, a former fireman and paramedic, had worked on critically injured accident victims and told his wife that if he were ever "just a vegetable," he wouldn't want to be kept alive by machines.

The judge, however, ruled that while patients and their families have a "general right" to have the plug pulled on life-support systems, Brophy's four daily feedings through a tube aren't the same thing.

The wife's attorney, Frank Reardon, said Mrs. Brophy was not surprised by the judge's ruling and plans to appeal.

"She feels it is her responsibility to see that her husband's wishes are respected," Reardon said.

According to medical experts, Brophy could live for up to three weeks after the feeding tube is removed from his stomach. Brophy's extensive medical care costs about $10,500 a month and is being paid by his insurance company.

ARTIST'S CONCEPTION OF HOW BROTHER RUDI HAS BEEN SEEN TO TRAVEL "AWAY FROM HIS EARTHLY BODY" THROUGH THE POWER OF CRYSTAL MEDITATION!

The story of
The Eternal Secret

And how is it that one man—and no one else—makes himself PURPOSELY LATE for an airplane flight—only to use it later all and crash BEFORE IT MAY SUBSIDING?

What is really behind the mystery of the U.F.O.'s . . . or of dreams that re-examine us with lost loved ones—and bring us to strange places that one day suddenly appear in real life?

And why does money, love and wholeness seem to be MAGNETICALLY ATTRACTED to one SOME men and women—leaving every one else to struggle with pain and disappointment?

The answers to these questions are still an unsolved mystery to the world's greatest scientists . . . philosophers . . . and theologians.

BUT AFTER A LIFETIME OF SEARCHING AND REVELATIONS—AFTER AN INCREDIBLE JOURNEY TO THE INNERMOST SIDE OF HUMANITY—AFTER SOLVING THE RIDDLES OF THE "INNER HEART" THAT CONTROLS HUMAN DESTINY . . .

My quest for "the truth" began when I was just a child in my native Switzerland. Even at that early age, I experienced "a calling" which led me to seek out answers to questions that OTHER CHILD years seemed to ask.

And after "choosing death" in many lives as a Holocaust Swiss Skydiver, I turned from sports and took life as more of an inner quest, to pursue this "calling" in a search around the globe. It HAD TO CONCLUDE THE SECRET!

And then one day, I finally found it!

In the middle of the desert, at the pitch black cold of night . . . I FOUND IT!

In a ceremony with the mystical rulers of the OpenOne brotherhood in Paris . . . I RECEIVED IT!

In the teachings of just a few others who were also chosen to make this discovery . . . I FOUND IT!

Through "a doorway" in the sights and sounds of another dimension . . . I FOUND IT!

And after meeting the Elder and Patient KEEPERS of the Heavens, who chose me to reveal their eternal secret TO YOU . . . I FOUND IT!

AVALANCHE VICTIM: I REFUSED TO DIE!

"I had my doubts that I was alive. I thought the ice coffin was going to be it. I knew I had to keep digging any way I could. I thought I was in heaven when I got out."

Those were the dramatic words Lester Jay Morlang — his hands, feet and ears deadened by frostbite — spoke softly as he recalled the thoughts that tortured his mind as he struggled for 22 hours to claw his way free of an avalanche that killed his friend and buried him alive.

Miner buried under tons of snow spends 22 horrifying hours digging his way out

Morlang and his partner, 58-year-old Jack Ritter, were working at the Bessie G gold mine at the 12,000-foot level on La Plata Peak in Colorado when the avalanche sent tons of snow thundering down on their heads.

"Without warning, a chute five feet away started to move," the 31-year-old miner said. "It happened so fast, I couldn't tell you what was running through my mind at the time."

Morlang had been standing just inside the mine entrance when it seemed the entire mountain above him exploded. He was knocked several feet from the mine by the force of the wet snow that roared down on top of him.

"I had my doubts that I was alive and I thought I was dead," he recalled. "The only thing I could do was stop and concentrate and not lose my mind. I was still breathing and moving, so I thought I could be alive."

Throughout the night and well into the next day, the gutsy miner refused to give up his fight to survive. Inch by inch, first moving his fingers, then his hands, Morlang slowly clawed his way out of his icy tomb.

Finally, after 22 hours of superhuman effort, he broke into the open. He was free of his freezing prison, but his nightmare ordeal was still far from over.

Despite the pain that tortured his frostbitten hands and feet, Morlang managed to build an ice igloo to protect him from the bitter-cold winds. He tried to build a fire, but by then his hands were too far gone to function. Then another avalanche roared down on him, burying him under another three feet of snow. Again, he had to claw his way to safety.

The following morning, he started his agonizing trek down the mountainside, his every step haunted by the fear that at any moment the snow-blanketed slope would unleash its fury for a third time.

Incredibly, he stamped out H-E-L-P in the thick snow and strained his frozen ears for the lifesaving sound of a search plane.

At about 1:45 that afternoon, the crew of a rescue helicopter spotted him and a rescuer actually leaped from the slowly hovering aircraft to aid the stricken man.

He was taken to Mercy Medical Center in Durango where his frostbitten hands, feet and ears were treated. Doctors there said it will be some time before they know the full extent of their damage.

Ritter's body was recovered from the snow only a few feet away from where Morlang's raw courage and determination had enabled him to escape a similar fate.

RECOVERING: Jay Morlang survived an avalanche that took the life of his friend. His ear and hands are bandaged because of frostbite.

Women should keep their noses out of men's business

I'm madder than a beaver with an impacted wisdom tooth at all the guff the President's Chief of Staff got for saying that females don't need to be bothered about foreign policy.

Let's face it, Donald Regan didn't say anything new or shocking when he noted that women don't understand talk about nuclear missiles "or what is happening in Afghanistan or what is happening in human rights."

Naturally, all of those old bems at the women's lib headquarters got their feathers ruffled some. Gloria Steinem — queen of America — got upset, too.

That was strange since she spent most of the President's first term worrying about White House wallpaper and dinner dishes.

Since when did Nancy cancel a visit to her favorite dress designer to bone up on the nuclear arms race?

And, more important, why should she? Foreign policy is tricky enough without having women mucking in.

Why do you think the President of men? It's tough enough dealing with the sneaky Russkies without having to calm down some emotional female on your staff.

And let's face it. Women frighten so easily, they'd give in. Before you know it, America would be disarmed and at the mercy of those Russkies.

I just wish other gals were as smart and wise as my honeybun of a wife Thelma Jean. She takes care of the house and leaves nuclear war to me.

Aircraft found 700 miles — and 48 years off course

GLEAMING: Investigators described the vintage aircraft as being in mint condition.

TIME WARP PLANE BAFFLES EXPERTS

A bizarre mystery surrounds a twin-engine passenger plane that was found crash-landed and abandoned in a New Guinea jungle swamp — looking as new as the day it was reported missing almost a half-century ago!

The silver aircraft was identified by its still-vivid markings as one lost on a flight from Manila to Mindanao 48 years ago. Newspapers found inside the downed plane are dated the third week of January 1937.

An unnamed source in Jakarta, Indonesia, said a team of military aerospace investigators spent several hours inside the "like-new" aircraft and came away puzzled and shaken over what they found inside.

The chief investigator quickly ordered the area cordoned off with armed soldiers and imposed a total news blackout of the eerie incident.

However, the source in Jakarta had been inside the pristine plane days before the investigators arrived to launch their probe.

"When I first saw the plane, I couldn't believe my eyes," he said.

"I was looking at an airplane that hadn't been in this part of the world since the end of World War 2. Yet, incredible as it sounds, it looked like it had just rolled off the assembly line.

"It was virtually new. Its metal fuselage and wings were unscarred and gleaming like a mirror in the sun. It was as if the plane had flown into a time warp that carried it 48 years into the future and 700 miles off course.

"I was certain the door would be difficult to open, but it swung outward easily and without a sound. I stood outside for a second before entering. I was not prepared for what I found — and what I didn't find."

What he didn't find was any sign of life . . . or death. Although the plane showed obvious signs of having been recently occupied — empty paper cups, cigarette butts in the ashtrays, a neat-looking, felt fedora, and the unyellowed editions of several 1937 newspapers — the interior was deserted.

In one of the ashtrays was an empty pack of unfiltered cigarettes bearing a green label popular in the '30s but discontinued when America entered World War 2. And the clothing fashions and hairdo styles depicted in a magazine were those of the Depression Era.

"But the most astonishing of all was the condition of the plane," the source said. "The batteries were still fully charged. When I threw a few switches, the lights went on.

"There was coffee in a Thermos bottle and it tasted fresh! There were packages of sandwiches that were equally fresh. They could have been made only hours before. It made my skin crawl. It was very spooky. I checked the fuel tanks, expecting to find them bone-dry. But they appeared to be full.

"The plane had come down with its landing gear up. It just skidded along the soft muck until it stopped. It was totally undamaged. With a pilot at the controls, I'm certain it could fly as well as it did almost 50 years ago."

The investigation into the plane's past is continuing, according to government sources.

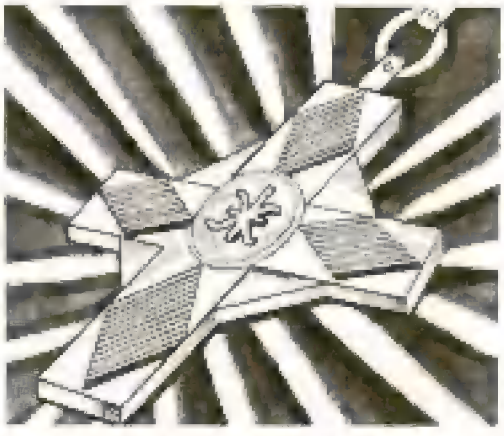
GOD SENT ME ON AN AMAZING JOURNEY TO RECEIVE A SPECIAL MESSAGE...AND TO BRING YOU A WONDERFUL GIFT!

the cross of ANTRON



"I am an ordained minister of The Knight Federation Church. The story of my amazing experience and how it led me to the Cross of Antron follows...

MY NAME IS LYDIA STALNAKER

...and because my story may sound too fantastic to be believed at first hearing, I want you to know the following facts.

My story has been thoroughly checked and verified by numerous scientific organizations and by several prominent scientists, including professors at the University of North Florida and the University of California at Berkeley. Dr. James Harder, Director of Research at the prestigious Aerial Phenomena Research Organization and a member of a leading publication's Blue Ribbon UFO Panel has said publicly that my story is true "beyond a reasonable doubt."

Articles about what has happened to me have appeared in national and international newspapers and magazines. I have been interviewed on international and national television shows. I have appeared on a David Suskind TV interview and numerous radio shows, including CBS Mystery Theater. I have lectured at such major universities as Boston University and the North Florida University.

The reason I am giving you this detailed background is that I want you to give serious consideration to my story. For, if you believe my message—and if you accept the remarkable gift I have for you—your life will never be the same again.

I HAVE MET PEOPLE FROM ANOTHER GALAXY—

—so I know, from first-hand experience that man is not alone in the universe. My meeting took place on evening in Jacksonville, Florida in August of 1974. I was kidnapped and taken aboard an Alien Spacecraft from another galaxy, where the Aliens gave me "A MESSAGE FROM GOD" to deliver to the people of this world. They also told me I would receive "SEVEN POWERS FROM GOD" I am to use these powers to help mankind and to demonstrate His power so others may believe. I have been using these powers for GOD'S GLORY and His work.

Even now, there is a book being readied about my experience, filled with facts and proof, including a lie-detector test and many other tests given me by doctors and scientists. The book will be called "The Antron Transplant" and it is to be published soon.

"Experts say my story is true beyond a reasonable doubt."

THE MESSAGE OF ANTRON—

Aboard the spacecraft there was a woman named Antron, who told me they came from a green planet, located in another galaxy. And that she is thousands of years old. But the really important thing Antron told me is that all people in the universe, whatever their origins, know God and His Powers.

I HAVE RECEIVED THE GIFT OF HEALING

I was given the gift of healing. And since this happened, many of my healings have been carefully documented. When I was aboard the craft with Antron, I saw a strange insignia that was their "Symbol." Later, Antron inspired me to design this Symbol as a cross, so that Earth people could receive its benefits. Also, I was told to wear this cross as a point of contact for God's Blessings and "Infinite Power" in my life.

On the cross, eight adjacent pyramids are connected by four angle pyramids. And, at the center of the cross, appears the galactic symbol of the Universal Life Force. It is a bio-magnetic cross, and Antron says that the universal life force leaps from this cross in flashes of fantastic energy—just as the universal life force flashes out of my hand when I am engaged in the process of healing others. (see illustration at right for more details on this).

ANTRON HAS GIVEN ME A MISSION—

Antron says that those on the Spacecraft had come because our world is going through a period of declining faith, and they were sent here to spread the word about life in other galaxies—and about the universal power of faith and of God. They have given me an instrument to spread the word, and that instrument is—THE CROSS OF ANTRON!

"The cross was designed by Antron—and the Universal Life Force surges out from it in powerful waves of energy!"

ANTRON'S GIFT TO THE PEOPLE OF EARTH

Antron's gift to prove their prophecies is this remarkable cross. And they stated that wonderful things will happen to those who wear it, for they will share in its tremendous life force energy.

I make the cross available to help spread Antron's message of hope to the people of earth. And whatever money I have left, after paying my expenses for this activity, will go for this purpose.

But the power of the Cross of Antron is really a wonderful gift, and if Antron were not willing to share it, no amount of money on earth could buy it.

WHAT DO YOU WANT?—

Are you ill—or is a friend or member of your family sick? Wear the Cross of Antron. And please write and tell me if your prayers are answered for relief in illness and of any blessings of healing.

Do you need any money because you are desperate and in debt? Do you need money to buy your family the necessities of life and to provide them a car and a secure home? Wear the Cross of Antron and let its life-force reinforce yours. And please write and tell me if your prayers are answered and if the blessings of freedom from debt and the worries over money are lifted.

Do you want curses broken? Tensions healed; anger and bickering which affect your family gone? Then wear this Cross of Antron. And please tell me if your prayers for a peaceful family life are answered.

Wear this Cross of Antron and let the "POWERS" help you. Each cross I have prayed over and blessed in Jesus' Name.

"Antron invites you to share in the power of this amazing cross."

And please, please write and tell me of any blessings you believe the Cross of Antron brings to you.

here is my proof...

"The powers of this amazing cross are a gift from God, who has made all things. Through Antron, a being from another Galaxy, it has now been brought to us, the people of Earth.

Here is why I believe the Cross of Antron has such amazing powers. It is a bio-magnetic cross, which means it is surrounded by a energing force field. Antron calls this the Universal Life Force. At the right is a simulation of an actual Kirlian photograph - a special photography process discovered by para-psychologists in Russia - taken of my own hand during the process of healing. As you can see, the universal life force leaps out of my hand in flashes of energy, just as it leaps out of the Cross of Antron.

The Hand of Lydia Stalnaker

Remember, Actual photo is on my file and can be viewed as it appears in color.

The only repayment that Antron and I ask for sharing this Cross with you is for you to write and tell me how it has blessed and helped you.

You may receive the Cross of Antron by mailing in the form below. Wear the Cross of Antron for a full year—365 days—and if at any time you are disappointed with the Cross of Antron, your money will be refunded at once, without question. It would be a thoughtful gesture on your part to order extra crosses to share with those in need. A booklet about the miracle of the Cross of Antron will also be sent. Soon you will be sharing the wonderful powers of the Cross of Antron. God bless you.

Mom battles killer croc to save child!

By REGGIE MacDONALD

A desperate mother battled 90 minutes to free her shrieking, bleeding daughter from the jaws of a crocodile — and miraculously she won!

According to the Kenya News Agency, Esha Wako was drawing water from the Tana River in northeast Kenya when the 14-foot croc snatched her 10-year-old daughter off the bank and dragged her into the water.

With no regard for her own safety, the horrified mom — who had a 9-month-old baby strapped to her chest — rushed to the child's defense.

But the crazed croc had the terrified girl by the torso and all Mrs. Wako could grab was her leg.

The nightmarish tug-of-war that followed went on for an hour and a half, stunning wildlife experts who said the 650-pound beast could easily have dragged three men into deep water.

"That devil had my Samantha and she was screaming and all I could think was, 'No! You can't have my daughter,'" Mrs. Wako, 37, told a Kenya news reporter.

"My body felt like fire," she sobbed, "and the next thing I knew I was in the water, pulling with all my might on my baby's leg.

"That crocodile was glaring at me. He was evil, like a devil or a demon. He was tossing his head and jerking to shake me loose.

"But I wasn't scared and I didn't think. I just cursed him and held tight and pulled."

Kenya News said the woman incredibly managed to tug the croc to the ankle-deep water by the river's bank. But wrestle as she did, she could not get the beast ashore — or free her child.

Dramatic 90-minute fight to pull daughter from big beast's jaws

BRAVE mom Esha Wako's infant child was strapped to her chest while she battled croc.

THE HUGE croc grabbed Samantha as the 10-year-old played on a riverbank. The girl's mom grabbed her and miraculously kept the croc from pulling the child under the water.

"His jaws were shut tight on Samantha's waist and stomach and buttocks," said the woman. "And he just sat there, glaring."

Mrs. Wako said she wanted to let go of her child's leg and attack the croc with her bare hands. But she was afraid that he would get away if she let loose for a second.

Incredibly, more than an hour had passed before Anja Wako, a relative, began to worry about Mrs. Wako and Samantha and went to the river to check up on them.

When she saw what was happening, she courageously grabbed a stick and joined the fray, gouging the croc's eyes until it let go of the little girl and swam away.

Kenya News said the child required 40 stitches to close the wounds on her buttocks and legs but was quickly recovering from the ordeal.

Wildlife official Franklin Mbuguss, who tracked and killed the bloodthirsty croc, called the child's rescue miraculous, the mother "superhuman."

"What she did was impossible," he said. "Three men with ropes and hooks would have had a hard time holding that croc.

"But Mrs. Wako did it alone, barefooted, in ankle-deep water and mud — with the power of her love for her daughter."

Samantha herself told reporters she never once doubted that her mother would free her from the croc's toothy grip. And she still refuses to believe that she was in its clutches for an hour and a half.

"It didn't seem like that long because my mommy was there," she said. "I knew she would make that crocodile leave me alone because she won't let anything hurt me."

Rich folks watch their pennies, too

Now there is the rich man's equivalent of the cost-of-living index. It's something called the Cost-of-Living-Well Index.

The gauge to the price of pricey things is put out by Washington Dossier magazine so that wealthy spenders can keep tabs on how much they're being taken advantage of," said Dossier publisher David Adler of his magazine's prosperous readers.

"They're still educated consumers and they pride themselves on that.

"One of the reasons wealthy people have money is because they watched their pennies," Adler added.

The Cost-of-Living-Well Index, for example, that the price of a chauffeured limo has risen $4 to $41 an hour. Beluga caviar remains unchanged at $35 an ounce and the price of a Concorde jet ride from Washington to London is still only $2,423.

Someone near and dear would love a bouquet of flowers. Nothing fancy — just something that says, "I care." Hop to it.

If it rains, stay indoors. You're particularly vulnerable to colds and flu right now. Take precautions or you could spend days in bed.

CAPRICORN

Dec. 22-Jan. 19

A close friend or relative could be a stressful pain in the neck this week. Try to be calm and control your temper or you'll likely do something you'll regret.

This isn't the time to gamble or take chances with your personal or business life. Be especially careful how you spend your money, but don't expect to get something for nothing.

An old flame from the past will try to complicate your life. Don't make the same mistakes you made before. Use your head.

If your birthday is this week . . .

The coming year will be loaded with challenges for you. It won't be easy, but according to the planets, it will be a time of incredible personal growth.

Work will be difficult for a period of three or four months because of personality conflicts. But if you keep your temper and concentrate on goals, you will be able to rise above these problems and score a real success.

IT'S at this gate of a Chicago cemetery where the vision of the beautiful young ghost most often is seen.

Mary, the ghost who loves to dance

She's seen most often after the ballrooms close

A half-century ago, a young woman was tragically killed while walking to a dance. Since then, she has become the most famous ghost in Chicago history — a hazy vision of beauty known as Resurrection Mary!

Through the decades, she has often been encountered walking along Archer Avenue, a major thoroughfare that slices diagonally through Chicago's Chinatown and into the southwest suburbs.

It was on that street that she was struck down by a car in the 1930s, apparently as she walked to a dance at a ballroom in Willow Springs. Her death came not far from the graveyard that gave Mary her eerie nickname — Resurrection Cemetery.

Those who have seen her say Mary looks distressed as she floats down Archer Avenue. She is young, blonde and beautiful in an old-fashioned prom gown. She looks distressed and in need of help. If a motorist stops and offers her a ride, she accepts.

But as the car passes the iron-barred fence of Resurrection Cemetery, Mary leaves the car and vanishes through the graveyard gates.

"Resurrection Mary is a real ghost," Chicago-based ghost-hunter Richard Grove told The NEWS. "She's real, that is, in the sense that she's not make-believe or the figment of someone's wild imagination.

"I've interviewed many intelligent people who have seen her and, when you get reports from credible witnesses, you have to know there is something going down in the southwest suburbs."

The 37-year-old ghost-hunter, lecturer and personable guide to haunted places said the best time to spot Mary is not, as one might think, at Halloween, but in the good old summertime.

"Especially in the early morning hours after about 1:30 a.m.," he explained.

"And when there's a full moon. She was a young girl who loved dancing and the early morning hours are when the ballrooms used to close.

"When she's encountered, she's probably on her way home after a dance somewhere.

"But, of course, her home now is

Organ donor found a way to qualify

Seconds after telling a shocked emergency room nurse he wanted to donate some organs, William Raney whipped out a pistol — and blew himself away.

Raney, 35, died 4½ hours later at the University of Tennessee Hospital in Knoxville of a bullet wound in the mouth.

"He left his home in Wartburg, Tenn., that morning and had gone services trying to get them to take his organs while he was still alive," said Knox County Sheriff's Lt. George Hipshire.

The bizarre shooting occurred around 7:30 p.m. shortly after Raney strolled into the university's hospital emergency room.

"He told the nurse he wanted to donate his organs," said hospital spokesman Lisa McNeill. "The he was acting weird. She heard the door slam shut and then a shot."

Raney, who is survived by a pregnant wife, put a small handgun in his mouth and pulled the trigger. He died shortly before midnight.

With his wife's approval, the hospital removed his kidneys and eyes. One kidney was sent to Indianapolis, Ind., and the other to Gainesville, Fla. His eyes went to the East 71, the 49-year-old bachelor farmer from anada, has been pursuing Anne — a mar- of two whose best-known song is the hit bird. He appears to have no intention of giving up his stubborn pursuit.

ner Robert Kieling the singing star in and he has been e 1971, police say.

"He thinks she's in love with him and hiding the fact," said Gary Copeland, deputy police chief of Springhill, Nova Scotia, where the lurking lover — Robert Charles Kieling — is now in custody on charges of violating probation.

"We're worried it's going to get more serious. This man just doesn't know when to give up."

Authorities say Kieling first contacted his idol 14 years ago when he wrote a letter to Anne enclosing seeds of wheat from his farm in Saskatchewan. His letter was answered with a form letter thanking Kieling. Anne, who signed the form letter, said she thought his gesture "was very nice."

Since that first contact, Kieling has become obsessed with the star, police say. He has traveled thousands of miles following her from one appearance to another. He has sent her letters, airline tickets, a diamond ring. He has been in court more than 35 times on a dozen charges in the last seven years.

"If I dwell on it, it bothers me," Anne, a pretty honey blonde, said. "He's grabbed me three times. Once on stage in Vancouver, another time on stage in Halifax — at the other end of the country — and once in the foyer of my home.

"I invited him into the house after he promised he'd behave, so that we could talk. To make him see he was wrong."

Kieling has spent one year in a psychiatric hospital for the criminally insane and several stretches in other hospitals. Psychiatrists say the man has a textbook case of something called erotic paranoia, but they are unable to cure him of his consuming passion for Anne.

"This thing is destroying my son," fretted the middle-aged farmer's mother, Elizabeth Kieling. "It isn't normal that he doesn't stop.

"But it's not a question now of whether he's right or wrong. It's a question of helping him. I pray that the Lord would send him a woman, one who would really love him. He is alone too much and he does need love."

Kieling insists his pursuit of Anne is a private matter and refuses to discuss it. He defends himself in court and police and attorneys who have known him say he appears normal.

"He's intelligent, not a raving lunatic," Deputy Chief Copeland told The NEWS. "But he's very set in his ways, very stubborn. He believes in what he's doing and no one can get it out of his head.

"He's been put on probation with the stipulation that he stay away from her and any of her family, but he just keeps violating the order and getting arrested.

"He's out for a couple of months and then he's back again. I've never seen anything like it. Where's it all going to end?"

Open manhole swallows up teen as he crosses the street

Teenager Bobby Beasley was walking across the street to meet a pal — but he never made it to the other side.

The 14-year-old Louisville, Ky., boy unwittingly stepped into the gaping opening of a storm drain manhole, plunging 25 feet to the sewer below and was swept to a gruesome death by the raging flood waters rampaging through the pipes.

Horribly, workers found the boy's headless body two hours later when it bobbed to the surface in a water plant holding tank three miles downstream from the open manhole.

"It appears he didn't even see it (the open manhole)," said Louisville Fire Dept. Maj. Pete Wright.

"It was a very freakish thing. The boy was intending to go to a friend's house and the open hole was directly in his path.

"There were reports that he drowned. But I would like to think he died instantly rather than go through the terrible thing of being swept through the sewer."

The city had been deluged by torrential rains the day and night before and officials estimated that the waters were coursing through the gigantic 8-foot diameter drain pipes at more than 30 m.p.h.

Bobby just finished walking his 11-year-old brother Leonard — who was on crutches due to a broken ankle — to the bus stop and was walking across the street to a friend's house.

Officials speculated that the 2½-foot, 125-pound iron manhole cover had been blown off by the tremendous water pressure in the sewers. Then a car knocked it, causing the cover to roll 25 feet away where it was later found.

While Crazy Horse fought, Sitting Bull stayed back making medicine to help bring on victory.

"My decisive experience with the Mercedes was a collision between my car and another vehicle on the Nuremberg-Munich highway," Hitler told pals. "The other car was totally wrecked. On mine, only the bumpers and running board were damaged. It was then I decided to use only a Mercedes for the rest of my life."

'Rich Kids' gang full of pampered punks

Cops are dealing with a new breed of rich teenage toughs who roar to rumbles in dad's Mercedes — and wear trendy clothes and purple hair.

The pampered punks attend exclusive private schools and shop with credit cards provided by their mothers, who are too busy socializing to watch over them.

"Gang members engage in violence for the sake of violence," said Los Angeles Detective Ray Davies. "They may be rich, but they are still a bunch of kids."

Cops say the letters FFF are sprayed on walls to mark the territory of the "Rich Kids'" gang. A 18-year-old school dropout, Christopher Cometa, has been charged with Miller's murder.

Fake senator gets respect!

SENATOR Frank Roberts has fooled thousands of people.

When fun-loving Frank Roberts wants the red carpet treatment, he simply tells people he's a senator — and his fake title has brought special favors for 23 years.

People are so impressed with power and prestige that Roberts has gone first-class with waiting limos, box seats to ball games and even police escorts.

Roberts, 55, of Lauderhill, Fla., frankly admits he is not, and never has been, a senator.

"I've used the senator, gosh, 15,000 times and no one's even asked if I was a U.S. or a state senator," he said. "I don't do it to brag. I use it like a tool. Like any tool I would use in business.

"I didn't get anything they didn't gladly want to give me," said Roberts. "I never asked for anything first-class. They gave it to me."

The phony senator isn't breaking any laws because he doesn't say how he voted or tell what district he represents or other specifics, said Miami lawyer S. Peter Capua, a close friend of Roberts. In his 148-page manuscript, Honored Guest, Roberts said he first posed as a senator in 1962 to win a bet that he could get a table at a plush restaurant on short notice. It worked.

"Everybody seemed to be falling all over themselves to do whatever they could to make the senator happy . . . because of his station in life and the power afforded that position," said Roberts.

A person has to look confident, well-tended and feel like a senator inside. "It's an attitude you take," said Roberts. "If you would have asked my opinion on an issue, I would have given an answer."

Being with "Senator Roberts" on a junket is quite an experience, said Capua of his friend.

"It is an awesome thing when you realize how people respond," he said. "It seems like everybody says, 'Yes, senator. That will be fine, senator.'"

Tongue test for AIDS

A slight discoloration on the tongue may signal the onset of the horrifying killer AIDS, federal health officials warn.

In a study conducted by the Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta, 78 of 125 people who had painless, white puffy spots on their tongues were tested and found to have been exposed to AIDS.

The spots, called hairy leukoplakia, were also found to be common among people with a pre-AIDS condition — AIDS-related complex, the CDC said.

Today it's AIDS, but in 1900 another disease terrified the nation

By DICK DONOVAN

Typhoid Mary served death on a platter!

As the 20th century slips toward its final decade, the fear of AIDS runs rampant through America. But back at the dawn of the 1900s, it was another killer disease that terrified the nation — and it was spread by a jovial Irish cook who was dubbed Typhoid Mary!

Her real name was Mary Mallon, and although much in demand for her cooking skills, she never stayed very long in any one place. And for good reason. Her culinary specialty was death.

The tragic saga of Mary Mallon began in 1900, when a mysterious typhoid outbreak struck Mamaroneck, N.Y. — mysterious because the food and water supply there was above suspicion. Typhoid germs enter the body through infected food and drink.

In 1903, seven people were felled by the fever in the home of J. Coleman Drayton in Dark Harbor, Maine. In 1904, typhoid visited the home of Henry Gibsey in Sands Point, Long Island, and homes in Oyster Bay and Tuxedo Park, N.Y.

Puzzled New York Health Department officials turned to Dr. George A. Soper, a celebrated sanitary consultant of the time and a clever investigator.

He soon unearthed a startling fact. Fair-haired, 40ish Mary Mallon had been employed as a cook in each of the homes ravaged by the fever. The search for the unsuspecting disease carrier quickly got under way.

By the time she was tracked down, New York was in the grip of a full-fledged typhoid epidemic. When told she might be the cause of the plague, Mary snatched up a rolling pin and chased her accusers into the street with the ferocity of an enraged tigress.

Nevertheless, she was taken into custody and examined by experts. Then the awful truth was confirmed — her body was a breeding cesspool for the deadly germs. White-faced doctors branded her "a walking epidemic." The press tagged her with the nickname that would stay with her to the grave — Typhoid Mary. After three escapes from custody, she was transferred to a hospital on North Brother Island in the East River. After a long legal battle, she was allowed to rejoin society on the provision that she never again prepare or handle food for others.

TRAGIC Mary, above, spent the final years of her life a prisoner. Much of that time was spent in the cottage at right on North Brother Island in New York's East River.

Docs branded the Irish cook a walking epidemic

But the only way she could earn a living was by working as a cook and she soon resumed her career as a human plague, preparing food in clubs, hotels, restaurants and private homes.

After five dreadful years, she was trailed to the Sloane Hospital for Women in Manhattan, where 27 nurses had been hit by the disease and two had died.

Mary was seized as she left the hospital with a bowl of gelatin she had made for friends. She was returned to her island prison where, bitter and sullen, she remained isolated punishment she never understood ... never believed she deserved.

On Christmas Day 1932, Typhoid Mary Mallon suffered a paralytic stroke. She lingered in an isolation ward in Riverside Hospital on the island until her death on Nov. 11, 1938, at the age of 70.

Typhoid fever is no longer a serious problem in America. Today, it is AIDS that threatens to sweep the nation like the deadly fallout of a nuclear holocaust.

The AIDS virus is so horrifyingly lethal — those who get it are doomed — that a New York Supreme Court justice once asked if its victims should be isolated from society — as Typhoid Mary Mallon was for 27 years.

Brain work safer for your heart

Male blue-collar workers are 40 percent more likely to die of heart disease than men with white-collar jobs, researchers say.

A team from Harvard Medical School made the startling discovery after studying 598 men between 30 and 70 years old in south Florida.

Researchers said the remarkable difference in heart disease deaths may not be due to differences in life-styles, they said.

"Two questions remain — whether it's the occupation itself or whether this is merely a marker for something else not yet taken into account," said Dr. Julie Buring, leader of the research team.

"I thought that white-collar workers would have a higher risk of coronary heart disease."

She said blue-collar workers

cipal chief in 1983 and will automatically become the big chief as soon as the Senate confirms Chief Ross Swimmer as the new head of the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

Health bigwigs panic over kids' dirty hair

Hundreds of children were diagnosed as having the frightening and mysterious "Black Spot" scalp disease before docs figured out what they really had was dirty hair!

Health officials in Casper, Wyo., were baffled by the epidemic of dark spots that appeared on the scalps of 1,500 kids in 1884. They took the case to the federal Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta, where medical experts have just determined that the spots were actually deposits of kaolinite — which is a fancy scientific term for ordinary clay.

"The final explanation and diagnosis was that kids get dirt in their hair," declared a Casper official.

Cops won't nab suspect 'cause he has AIDS!

Cops refused to arrest a 24-year-old suspected car thief — because he had AIDS!

When the suspect, Charles R. Edwards, was arrested in Amarillo, Tex., he told police he had AIDS. A blood test confirmed it, Amarillo Sheriff Jimmy Don Boydston said.

Officials in Pensacola, Fla., then canceled the arrest warrant because they didn't want Edwards back in Florida, Boydston said.

Kindly granny haunts this house

A tragic ghost haunts the old house where Jennifer Izzard lives, a brokenhearted old woman who tenderly cares for the house's occupants as if they were the beloved son she yearns for.

The specter strokes people's heads, covers them up at night and whispers soothing words of love more than a century after she ended her earthly existence — and people who have seen her say she's a little old lady in Victorian dress.

Little old lady doesn't know that she is dead!

"Demonologists told us she's an earthbound ghost who doesn't believe she's dead," said Jennifer, 21, a student at the University of New Brunswick in Fredericton, Canada. "She's kindly and maternal, but she frightens us.

"We try never to be alone in the house between 3 at night and 6 in the morning. When you're by yourself here you get a chilling feeling there's someone else with you."

Local residents say the house where Jennifer lives — a gray Victorian house called the Boyce mansion — has been haunted for a century by the ghost of one of its former owners. According to legend, she was away from home when her son contracted a fatal case of pneumonia and sent a letter to his mother begging her to return before he died.

The loving mother never received the letter but knew the moment of her death she has searched for it in her family home.

"At night we hear footsteps and a metal spring in our doorway moves by itself," Jennifer said. "Friends walk down the hallway and hear someone following them, giggling. They turn around and no one's there.

"The ghost puts our covers on if we kick them off at night. My roommate Joanne Blais woke up one time after someone ran their fingers through her hair saying, 'It's all right, dear, it's all right.'

"And once a priest who lived in the house heard a piano playing and went to investigate. He saw the ghost and asked her 'in the name of the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost' what she was doing in the house. She told him she was looking for a letter." The ghost of Boyce mansion may be eerie, but she's tidy, too, Jennifer says. She makes beds and straightens up while the occupants are away and watches over the house.

NEIGHBORS say the elegant Boyce mansion has been haunted 100 years.

Mom's suit claims doctor goofed her sterilization

Mother of five Roxanne Macomber breathed a sigh of relief after she underwent a sterilization procedure — but it was premature.

Three months later she was expecting surprise baby Mazie May.

Now the North Conway, N.H., housewife is suing the doctor who performed her tubal ligation and the hospital where the operation was done, claiming she had her sixth baby because they were negligent.

"I had the operation in January 1982, and Mazie was born in January 1983," Mrs. Macomber, 31, told The NEWS. "Later on I had a hysterectomy and during the operation, my surgeon found out that my right fallopian tube had never wanted child, but your income doesn't go up when you have another baby. We feel the doctor and hospital should be responsible for the cost of raising her."

Attorneys for Webber Hospital in Biddeford, Maine, where Mrs. Macomber's tubal ligation was done, say that they and lawyers for Dr. Carter Dillman contend that a tubal ligation — in which the fallopian tubes are severed so that fertilization cannot occur — has a 2 percent chance of failure.

They say Mrs. Macomber's tubes were cut, but that one grew together again and that cut the right tube at all," insisted Mrs. Macomber, whose husband Steven is a merchant seaman.

"I know there are other women whose tubal ligations didn't work — and now I'm wondering whether the same thing happened to them," said Mrs. Macomber.

"It's terrible not to know whether you're sterilized or not until you wind up pregnant."

Supermarket love

A psychotherapist named Robert Wishnoff says the best place to meet that special person isn't in a bar or health club — it is in a supermarket.

Parents sue rock star, claiming . . .

HIS SONGS DROVE OUR SON TO HIS DEATH!

Don't blame me! Rock star Ozzy Osbourne says charges contained in the suit against him by a fan's parents are ridiculous. They say their son killed himself while listening to one of the singer's records.

A California couple is suing sinister-rock star Ozzy Osbourne claiming that his frightful songs drove their teenage son to suicide!

The sensational suit filed in Los Angeles alleges that 19-year-old John McCollum's mind was slowly twisted by Osbourne's outrageously wicked brand of music and that the boy eventually blew his brains out while listening to one of Osbourne's records.

Although the suit condemns the British rocker's music in general, it mainly focuses on one particularly chilling tune called Suicide Solution.

Young McCollum's parents, Jack McCollum and Geraldine Lugenbuehl, and their attorney, Thomas Anderson, all of Indio, Calif., claim the song clearly prescribes suicide as a smart and entirely reasonable thing to do.

The suit says Osbourne and CBS Records should have known that the lyrics, "Suicide is the only way out/Don't you really know what it's all about?" would encourage impressionable kids like McCollum to kill themselves, and were negligent in putting it out for sale.

The boy's parents weren't immediately available for comment. But Anderson told The NEWS that he intended to seek compensatory and punitive damages from Osbourne and CBS Records "in the millions."

CBS Records coordinator Rochelle Katzman called the suit "ridiculous." The company spokesman, Bob Altschuler, said neither he nor the firm's attorneys had received copies of the suit, however, and did not wish to comment until they did.

Osbourne told reporters in London that he was sorry about the boy's death but insisted that he was in no way to blame.

"It's absolutely ridiculous to suggest that I'm responsible for their son's death," he said. "He was obviously deranged."

Anderson countered by saying that he felt sorry for Osbourne — because Osbourne is sick.

"He's ill," the attorney told The NEWS. "And I feel sorry for anyone who is ill. Unfortunately, he spreads his venom and bile of his illness to people, all over, through his music."

Osbourne, who once chomped the head off a live bat during a stage show and has weathered a storm of criticism over the dark themes in his music, said he wrote Suicide Solution as a memorial to fellow rock star Bon Scott, who drank himself to death.

He further said the song stands as a warning about the dangers of alcohol — and that anybody who doesn't wish to listen to it doesn't have to.

Blind man bluffs bank teller

An unarmed blind man who tried to bluff his way through a bank robbery was released on probation by a sympathetic judge.

British authorities said 25-year-old David Worrell handed a note to a teller at a branch of Barclay Bank in stead of handing over the money, the teller reached for an alarm button.

In his rush to get out of the bank, Worrell ran into a closed door, according to police. He was arrested when officers found him hiding in a nearby church.

Mayor tells New York schoolkids: Talk American

Mayor Ed Koch has declared all-out war on the ear-twisting New York accent that turns "third" into "tird," "mother" into "muddah" and "raised" into "razed."

In a memo to Schools Chancellor Nathan Quinones, Koch said he was appalled by the diction he had encountered in city high schools and called for a program to improve the pronunciation of both students and teachers.

Koch, whose own New York accent is nothing to write home about, admitted that even though his English is acceptable, "it is not the very best.

DON'T CONFUSE NUCLATRONS WITH FAKE PLASTIC DIAMONDS

Genuine Nuclatrons are completely different from soft, plastic "diamonds." Nuclatrons are created from special earth minerals cooked in blazing fire furnaces until fusion takes place. Each fused stone is then cut, shaped and polished by European Jewel Artisans. From all this labor is born a pseudo diamond that is absolutely dazzling. It's rockhard and dense. And this man-made gem has 58 BRILLIANT FACETS that burst with thousands of lively light rays. Of course, Nuclatrons are different from diamonds, but the nicest difference is our unbelievable low price of $18.88. That's less than one percent the cost of regular diamonds!!

A TREASURED GIFT FOR SOMEONE SPECIAL

Is there Someone Special you wish to impress or win over? Give a fabulous Nuclatron Ring in the elegant gift case we give away with each ring. Why spend a fortune for a comparably sized African gem? Your friends are not likely to know the difference—unless you tell! Meanwhile you're thousands of dollars ahead. Enough for a down payment on a car, furniture or a vacation. These stunning rings make thrilling gifts for anniversaries, graduations, engagements or birthdays.

RUGGED, 14KGE* RINGS FOR ENDURING SATISFACTION

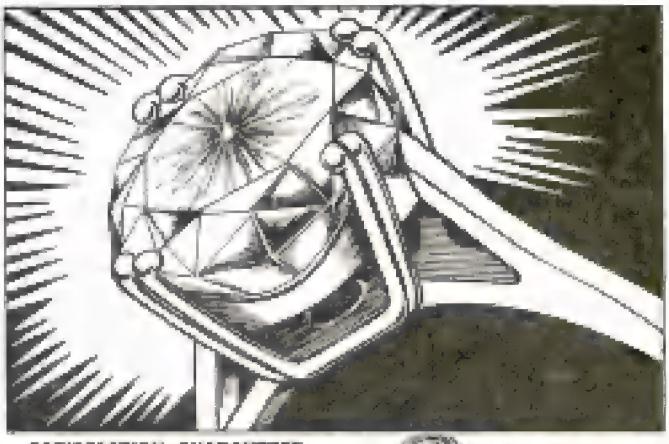
We use 14 KARAT GOLD ELECTROPLATE made with 14 TIMES MORE GOLD than cheap, unmarked plate. Yes, Nuclatron rings cost much more to make. But, let's face it, nothing wins and keeps smart customers like quality and value!

LIMIT: ONLY ONE MEN'S & LADIES' RING PER READER

Year after year, costs for labor, jewels and gold go up and up. Therefore we are rationing only one men's and one ladies' ring per reader. This LIMITED OFFER is guaranteed for only ONE (1) Month. To avoid disappointment, rush your order without delay.

WELL KEPT SECRET OF MILLIONAIRES & STARS

Many wealthy men and women, TV and Movie Stars wear fabricated diamonds to impress their friends and fans. For protection against burglars, they lock up costly jewels in bank vaults. This makes good sense. European Nuclatrons and African Diamonds look so much alike, only an expert can tell them apart. Take a tip from the famous and wealthy. Wear these high quality Nuclatrons and save yourself a bundle!



SATISFACTION GUARANTEED OR YOUR MONEY BACK!

Don't miss this LIMITED OFFER! The coupon below entitles you to a glamorous Lady Princesse Solitaire Ring for only $18.88 plus postage. Here's the beef

The owners of a South African restaurant claim to have cooked up the world's biggest hamburger — a whopping 4,454-pounder that stood two stories tall and was flipped by a crane!

The humongous creation of Cape Town's Spur Burger eatery was said to have outweighed the previous record holder — a 4,411-pounder cooked in Belgium in 1983 — by a respectable 44 pounds.

The South African patty was cooked over an open flame, 20 minutes to a side, and basted with a secret barbecue sauce that chefs spread with mops.

Once done, the burger was sliced into 15,000 portions and served on rolls to half the 30,000 who showed up to watch it cook.

"Not one person," said Spur Burger chef Allen Amber, "asked us where the beef was."

$30G computer error

Bank goof sends teen on a spree!

A teenage boy went on a wild spending spree, cops said, when a crazy computer goofed — and credited his savings account with $30,000.

The 16-year-old, whose name was withheld because he is a juvenile, blew $28,850 on two cars and more money partying with his friends before cops caught up with him and ended the spree.

The amazing mistake occurred when he deposited $3 in his account that usually contained less than $20.

He got a deposit slip back for $30,000.

He quickly made withdrawals on his new windfall, said police in Aurora, Ill.

One withdrawal was a money order for $21,300, and others were for $5,000, $2,000 and several for smaller amounts.

A phone call from his mom tipped the bank off to its incredible error.

She said her son was spending money he wasn't supposed to have. That brought cops into the case.

The teen was arrested on a theft charge.

First white people to live among headhunters are from another planet

RESEARCHERS spent three days among Brazilian headhunters and made one of the most amazing discoveries of all time.

Starship crew found in jungle, say scientists

French and Brazilian scientists say they have spoken with and photographed eight space aliens who have been living with South American headhunters since their spaceship crashed in a dense rain forest in 1895!

The reported discovery of the aliens in a remote village 150 miles northwest of Eirunepe, Brazil, was neither confirmed nor denied by authorities who trekked into the jungle to investigate the mind-boggling claim.

But French botanist Gerard Angelot — one of four respected researchers who say they spent three days with the aliens — told reporters that tape recordings of the visitors' voices, photos and interviews with the headhunters speak for themselves.

He also said the most compelling and conclusive evidence, a starship and alien rescue party, is expected to land in the jungle any day.

"It's an incredible story, and frankly, I don't care if you believe it or not," said Angelot.

"But I'll tell you this — aliens from outer space were the last thing we expected to find in the jungle. We were there to study plant life, nothing more, nothing less."

Photographs taken by Angelot's French colleague, Dr. Marc Missire, show the aliens to be astonishingly human-like.

But their speech and language, as evidenced by tapes, are not like any others on Earth.

"You can hear for yourselves that their voices are shrill and extremely high pitched, more like that of porpoises than humans," Missire told the press. "But they do have the capacity for human language. We communicated with them in Indian dialect, which they had mastered."

Evaldo Antunes, a Brazilian member of the scientific team, claims proficiency in Indian dialects and was the only expert to speak directly with the outer space aliens and headhunters.

Although there are no words in the language to express such things as light years and the vast distances encountered in space, Antunes said the aliens made it clear that they hailed from another galaxy.

"The aliens were the first white men — white humanoids — they had ever seen," said Antunes. "They said the visitors were treated as gods for many years, but were eventually accepted and treated as equals, even though they apparently haven't aged a day in the 90 years they've been here."

The scientists said their evidence will be turned over to university experts for study.

They have tapes and photos to prove the claim

REMARKABLE photo, which was taken by a French botanist, shows the face of a space alien.

Bizarre deaths of the spinster sisters

Spinster sisters Myra and Bertha Helms shared life together, and when death came along they shared that, too.

The two elderly ladies were found side by side in their Wolfeboro, N.H., home, each sitting in a chair in the living room, each stone cold-dead.

Authorities say that they died within moments of each other of natural causes.

"It was bizarre," police chief Stanley Stevens of Wolfeboro told The NEWS. "They were sitting in natural positions, with no signs of anxiety or trauma.

"All the appearances were that they had just passed away while they were sitting there. An autopsy was performed, but authorities say they both died of dehydration."

According to Chief Stevens, the devoted sisters were discovered about a day after their deaths by a volunteer from Meals on Wheels who was bringing them their lunch. The volunteer said she had spoken to one of the sisters the day before, and there was no indication that anything was wrong.

"The two old maids had shared a tiny frame house for 13 years. Bertha, 92, and Myra, 87, were both spry and active for their ages. Neither was under the care of a doctor and they were a common sight around the small town of Wolfeboro.

"They had an car, but they were able to get out and around and they walked everywhere they went," Chief Stevens said.

"I've seen them more than a mile away from their house.

"They weren't frail. They were able to take care of themselves. But, incredibly, they both died on the same day, together."

Bumbling getaway foils suspect

A bumbling bank robbery suspect was captured by police after crashing smack into a door that wouldn't budge and being hounded by passersby who wouldn't mind their own business.

Cops in Minneapolis said the bum bandit held up a First Federal Savings and Loan office and ran into the door on his way out.

"He actually hit the door," said a woman who watched the escapade. "It was like he forgot which way it opened."

When he picked himself up and ran from the bank, two men took off after him.

One of the pursuers, Mark Swanson, said that the man dropped what looked like a gun, and witnesses said he fumbled and stumbled around trying to recover it.

By then the second pursuer, who gave his name only as Don, was closing in.

"Then he turned around and screamed, 'This is none of your damn business!' I told him it sure was my business and that we were going to catch him."

At that point the man turned around and offered him a part of the loot to get lost, Don said.

"I said, 'Forget it, we're going to catch you.'"

Then, Don said, the guy started pulling what appeared to be a gun from his bag.

"I didn't wait around to find out if it was a gun," he said. "I turned around and ran faster than I've ever run."

Moments later, police got there and arrested the guy.

Drowning dad's last plea: 'Save my son!'

Drowning dad Eric Reid Sr.'s final words were an impassioned plea to his fishing buddy: "Save my son!"

And Randolph (Pete) Williams made a desperate rescue of 13-year-old Eric Jr. as they floundered in the storm-tossed waters of Long Island Sound after their boat capsized.

Williams said he, Reid and his son, and fellow New Yorkers Bill Drakeford and Richard Mills were fishing when their boat was capsized. He said Mills drowned immediately and Drakeford slipped beneath the waves seconds later.

The fisherman said he grabbed the boy and pulled him to the overturned boat as Eric Sr. shouted his last words: "Pete — save my son."

Ex-teacher run over by her own car

A minor fender-bender turned into a tragic accident when retired schoolteacher Sylvia Mariocchio was struck and killed — by her own car.

The unsuspecting victim was standing in front of her car after it collided and locked together with one driven by Amelia Wojnica in Glen Rock, N.J.

Cops separated the two cars, but didn't realize Mrs. Mariocchio's auto was in gear with the motor running. The 68-year-old woman was crushed when her car broke loose.

Two police officers ran alongside her car frantically trying to open the driver's door and stop it. But the door was locked.

HOI BERGER explains SYNOMETRICS

You already know about the isotonic and isometric principle of body dynamics. Millions of people use one or the other in their daily exercises. One day I accidentally discovered that if I used BOTH methods together in one single exercise, I automatically speeded up the results tremendously and I reduced my daily exercising to only a fraction of the time previously needed!

THE SCIENCE OF SYNOMETRICS

I later learned the scientific reason for this amazing result. It's called SYNERGISM—meaning that when you compound two methods the result is greater than the both of them separately. I now called my new discovery SYNOMETRICS and developed a special exercise until I call the SPEED SHAPER. And that's just what it is... a speed method to give you results in minutes, NOT hours! Now... build yourself a "fantastic looking body" with the incredible SYNOMETRICS—the invention that works on the exciting new scientific concept of ISOTONIC + ISOMETRIC

BRIDE'S WEDDING SHOCKER

THE IDENTITY of the bride was withheld to save her from any further embarrassment.

Stunned wedding guests are still talking about a posh California ceremony that began as a happy event — but wound up with a shocking finale.

The bride and groom, an unidentified couple from Simi Valley, Calif., never went through with their marriage because the bride revealed a little secret just as they were tying the knot, according to Los Angeles society columnist Mary Louise Oates.

Her speech at altar stuns guests — and the bridesmaid!

The young lady walked down the aisle in her gorgeous gown, joined the groom, the maid of honor and the best man at the altar — then whispered to the minister that she wanted to make a little speech.

First she thanked her parents for their love and support, for all they had done for her throughout the years, for the love and planning they had lavished on her beautiful wedding. Guests were filled with emotion.

Then she thanked her friends for their devotion, for their kindness and affection, for the presents they had showered on her on the happy occasion.

Friends and relatives choked back their tears.

Finally, the bride turned her attentions to her maid of honor.

"And I would like to thank the maid of honor," she said sweetly.

"I would like to thank her for sleeping with my groom last night."

With that, the blushing bride left the church, amid gasps and whispers.

She did not look back — and she did not toss her bouquet to the guests.

The bride's father — shocked but chivalrous — invited the wedding guests to a reception, explaining that it would be a shame to waste the elaborate preparations.

Apparently, the bride did not attend — and neither did the groom or maid of honor.

DESIGNER TOMBSTONES

. . . the classy way to go!

If you're the type who get their kicks out of flaunting their Calvin Klein jeans, Gucci sandals, Bill Blass blazers or Dior frocks, here's a classy little item you can leave behind when you head into the hereafter — a designer tombstone!

In recent years, more and more people are opting for gravestones that reflect their personalities, their lifestyles and their heritage.

"Tombstones are just like clothing and hairdos — they run in cycles," explained Eugene Rosenbloom, a third-generation stone sculptor and designer.

"People today are more aware of their heritage. They're trying to memorialize their deceased loved ones with a tombstone that says something about them.

I'm doing a tombstone now for a police captain that has his badge carved on it and an epitaph that says, 'A proud American and fiercely Irish.'"

For the family of a young musician, Rosenbloom, whose firm is located in the St. Louis suburb of Un-

Super worker completes 45 flawless years

Neither sickness, snow nor anything else could keep super worker Robert Jackson away from his job, not even for a single day — in 45 incredible years.

"I'm just a person who is determined to come to work," said Jackson, 65, payroll manager for New Jersey Transit in Maplewood. "As long as I could get out of bed, I've come to work."

His amazing, sick-free work record began in 1940 and ended last month with his retirement.

A widower with three children, Jackson said he's had colds through the years, but he always went to work anyway.

When snowstorms made roads too hazardous to drive, Jackson took the subway from his home in Belleville to Newark and then hopped on the bus to Maplewood.

"I enjoyed my work and I enjoyed the people I worked with," he said.

"I was determined to do a good job. The first time it snows hard, I may turn over in bed, but I'm not one to lie around in bed.

"I want to stay really active," he said.

During some of those 45 years, Jackson didn't even bother to take all his vacation days.

He's using some of that accumulated time now that his working days are over.

"I think it's good to work in a company where you really and truly feel the camaraderie," said the devoted super worker.

"I tried to do the best I could."

Con wants to be guinea pig

Prisoner Donald Dufour is facing execution for killing three men — but he wants to "help somebody" by serving as a guinea pig for research on incurable diseases.

"I'm either going to die in the electric chair or I die in research. It's just a matter of how I choose to (die)," said Dufour, who is in the Orange County (Fla.) Jail.

Medical officials quickly said Dufour won't get his wish. "To use a prisoner as a guinea pig would be unacceptable in the scientific community," said Dr. Charles Vierck, director of the Center of Neurobiological Sciences at the University of Florida.

Pill is Safe, All Natural

The Super Herbal Pill contains a special blend of herbs, natural oat fiber and oriental glucomannan. Medical research studies on fiber and glucomannan verify their many benefits.

BETTY Ashworth and her husband, Bob, live daily with the knowledge that Betty's life will be shortened by AIDS.

Good-natured granny Betty Ashworth had her hip operated on to end the agony of arthritis, then discovered the cure was a killer — when she came out of surgery suffering from AIDS!

Betty, 67, is convinced she got the dread disease from a contaminated blood transfusion during the first of two operations to replace her crippled hips.

Doctors have informed the Smoms, Calif., woman that the ailment will probably take her life within 18 months.

"This has come as a terrible blow to us," said Bob Ashworth, her heartsick husband of 48 years.

"It was so tragic, so totally unexpected. How could something like this happen to Betty?"

Ironically, the easygoing oldster set aside three pints of her own blood for use during the second round of surgery — as a precaution against AIDS.

But by then, she says, it was too late.

"I evidently already had the AIDS virus from the first transfusion," said the frail mother of four.

"It upsets me that I didn't know I had the option of giving myself blood the first time around."

At first, Betty says, she was angry over the cruel hand fate had dealt her. Now as death closes in, she is struggling to make the most of the time she has left.

"Now we have accepted what the Lord sent," she said. "You have to believe everything happens for a purpose or you'll go bananas. We are born to die, anyway."

Bob, a retired airline mechanic, spends his days cooking and caring for the ill-fated lady who has been his partner in life for nearly half a century.

"I can't tell you how painful it is to watch the person you love most suffer," he said.

"When I feel overwhelmed, I just have to get away by myself. I go into the other room and play with budgets on my home computer."

Lawyer Linda Dearin said a lawsuit will be filed against Betty's surgeon, the hospital where the surgery was performed and the blood bank that furnished her transfusion.

"We're charging that they should have warned Mrs. Ashworth that there was an AIDS risk and offered her the chance to provide her own blood," the lawyer said.

Con artist takes greedy cops for 7 grand

An African sorcerer convinced two French cops that he could magically increase the value of money by 1,000 percent.

But when the lamebrained lawmen handed over $7,600 for the transformation, he turned the cash to shredded newspaper — and skipped town!

The French daily newspaper Nice Matin said the cops hooked up with the sorcerer after one of them went to him for advice "about a personal problem."

While talking things over with the troubled cop, Diaby just happened to mention that he could turn 50-centime pieces worth 6 cents into 500-franc notes worth $80, the newspaper said.

To prove it, he asked the officer to drop a coin into boiling water spiced with an assortment of secret herbs. A — and a soggy note floated to the top.

The flabbergasted policeman told his pal about the sorcerer's powers. And over the next few days, they had him repeat the miracle until they were convinced he could make them rich.

The cops, neither of whom were named, finally returned with 60,000 francs, their life-savings, and asked Diaby to do his stuff.

their money in a suitcase, recited a special incantation, and told them not to open the suitcase for three days — "or the spell will not work."

The cops incredibly followed his instructions to the letter. And when they greedily opened the suitcase, it was stuffed with sliced-up newsprint.

Seydou Diaby, said the paper, got away clean.

Flying high

A tipsy traveler wearing only a cardigan sweater tried to waltz out of a jumbo jet — while it was flying at 35,000 feet.

"I'm getting off this bus!" the 47-year-old drunk shouted as he tugged at the cabin door.

It took seven frantic crew members to subdue the unidentified — and reluctant — flyer.

The troublemaker was taken to a hospital when the flight from Sydney, Australia, arrived in Singapore.

Low-cal fast food for fitness freaks

Former fast food freaks who have switched to the fitness fad are being lured back to the junk food eateries with low-fat hamburgers and french fries.

A fast-growing food chain, D'Lites of America, offers low-calorie, low-cholesterol, low-fat versions of what you'd find in any fast food restaurant. Doug Shelley said he recognized the need for more healthy fast food in 1978 when he owned 18 Wendy's.

"I wasn't even eating in my own restaurant any more," said businessman Shelley, head of the Atlanta-based chain which now boasts 90 stores.

A typical meal of a vegetable pita, french fries and a sugar-free soft drink at D'Lites contains 514 calories. The cheeseburgers have less fat, a bun with 25 percent fewer calories and diet cheese. A quarter-pound burger and bun contains 331 calories and sells for $1.49.

Jap car attack

Japan has a 1,000-to-1 edge over the United States when it comes to selling their cars to us and vice versa — and the sales gap is growing wider.

Nearly 3 million Japanese-made autos were sold in America last year while only 2,000 U.S. cars were sold there. Sales of American cars in Japan are expected to drop below 2,000 this year, but Japanese car sales in this country will soar to 2.2 million.

Don't call the captain 'sir'!

THE FIRST all-female pilot crew in commercial airline history was formed when Frontier Airlines teamed up Capt. Emily Warner Gehl with First Officer Barbara Cook.

Passengers boarding commercial jets are liable to take a second look when they peek in the cockpit before takeoff — and see a woman pilot at the controls.

Women are rapidly breaking down the barriers of the commercial pilot business that once was a bastion of macho male dominance.

"You don't have to be a middle linebacker type to be a pilot," said a spokesman for the Airline Pilots' Association. "Once you get behind the stick, you throw out male and female and just do the job."

During the past year, 324 of the 7,200 pilots hired by American commercial airlines were women. That is more than double the number of female pilots hired in 1977-78.

Women move into the cockpit

Some airlines have lowered height requirements for pilots from 5-foot-8 to 5-foot-2.

The age range is 23 to 40. Some airlines require college, but most hiring is based on flying time and licenses.

One of the pioneer women pilots is Deborah McCoy, a captain for Continental Airlines in Houston, Tex. "People think the (male) pilots are against you, but that's not true," she said. "I'm treated like any regular old person."

One shocked passenger did a double take when he peered into the cockpit and saw Miss McCoy in the captain's seat.

"Give me a double scotch and water — I'll need it," he quipped.

Miss McCoy ranks about 400 on Continental's seniority list out of 1,600 pilots.

CRUNCH!

Sharks that lived 3.5 million years ago had jaws big enough to swallow small cars — if there had been any small cars back then. Of course the sharks probably would have broken a few teeth when they did it, said Robert Purdy of the Smithsonian Institution.

21 drunk driving convictions!

Faustino Goncalves, 45, was sentenced to three years in jail in Brockton, Mass., for driving without a license and failing to attend an alcoholism program — after his 21st drunk driving conviction in 13 years.

Loverboy's drug habit makes a dope out of me

Send letters to: Dotti, Weekly World News, 600 S. East Coast Ave., Lantana, Fla. 33462

Dear Dotti: I am an 18-year-old recovering drug addict. My boyfriend is also recovering.

I have been clean for nine months and my boyfriend has been, as far as I know, clean for a couple of months.

We both came out of rehabilitation at the same time.

He says he has been clean but the other day I was going through his pockets and I found matches (he doesn't smoke) and cotton balls (like he used to use when he was shooting up).

I tried to look at his arms but he pulls away. He goes away and stays away for hours although he says he'll be just a few minutes.

I know he is back on drugs and headed for big trouble if he doesn't get clean again.

I love him and I don't want to give him up but I can't watch him kill himself. He has never hurt me and has helped me so much. The doctor told me that if he keeps doing drugs he won't make his next birthday. What can I do? — Hopeless and Helpless, New Jersey.

Dear Hopeless: Contact the rehabilitation center where you received your treatment, and ask one of the counselors to advise you about what you can and should do to help your friend.

It would be helpful for you to be able to talk to other recovering addicts, who can identify with your personal desire to stay drug free, and can also understand your frustration in dealing with your friend's denial of his usage.

If you haven't already been channeled into an after-care support group by the rehab unit, ask for information about locating one in your area.

I'm sinking in quicksand

Dear Dotti: I'm a 25-year-old housewife and I've been married for seven years. My husband got the seven-year itch two years ago but that was all worked out and forgiven and it hasn't happened again.

But for the past four or five months I've been feeling empty and lost. I don't know if it's my age or what happened a couple of years ago. I don't feel the same about myself. My personality has changed. I feel like I'm sinking in quicksand.

I've talked to my friends, but they don't know what to say to me. I've talked to my husband but he says not to worry — it will pass.

I don't want to get to the point of no return. Please help me. I'm so tired of the way things are inside of me. — Empty, California.

Dear Empty: You may have been able to forgive your husband intellectually, but in the deepest recesses of your emotional being, you could still be very angry and hurt.

If you haven't had a check-up to rule out any physical cause for your depression, I think you should do so.

He's scared of getting hurt

Dear Dotti: I've been seeing a very nice guy for 10 months. After the first couple of months he started telling me he loved me. I believed him.

I fell in love with him, then one day he stopped saying it anymore. I asked him why he doesn't tell me that he loves me. He said, "What is love? All that it is is a word."

He told me that he really loves me but he was hurt very bad by his wife when she left him. He said he is afraid that he is going to get hurt again. I don't want to do that.

How can I show him that I love him and that I would never hurt him? — Love Hurt, New York.

Dear Love Hurt: Your friend's fear of beginning a new relationship could arise from his inability to lay to rest the leftover feelings of anger, love and guilt he still has from his divorce.

For the present, perhaps the best way to express your love for him is to be patient and supportive, while giving him time to work out his conflicting emotions.

Confidential

Dear Duffy in Ohio: You do sound a little nuts. Why not tell him? He may have a good excuse.

Dear How in Texas: Now that you've finally caught on, why not surprise her with a telephone call?

Dear Silly in Florida: Forget him. He's probably married.

Dear Depressed in Illinois: If you weren't depressed you'd be crazy. Things will get better. Relax.

Dear Jilted in Utah: Maybe he isn't a bum like you.

Dear Flipped Out in Idaho: You have a right to be a bit goody, but try to get yourself together. Then hire a lawyer.

TELEVISION AROUND THE WORLD

Top shows in foreign countries

TV addicts around the world are fascinated by American-made programs — and millions of foreigners follow the fortunes of J.R. Ewing and Blake Carrington as closely as we do.

That became apparent when Electronic Media magazine asked its correspondents overseas to list their favorite shows. A lot of countries don't keep tabs on ratings as closely as America does, so in some cases more than one show is listed as No. 1.

Country	Top American shows	Top local show
Australia	"Cagney & Lacey," "Hill Street Blues," "Dynasty" and "Dallas"	"A Country Practice": Drama dealing with medical and veterinary practices in a country town.
Belgium	"Dynasty"	"The Weather": Twice a week, Armand Pien (who could be Belgium's answer to Willard Scott) gives 12-minute reports on the state of the skies, mixing scientific reports with offbeat pranks and humorous anecdotes.

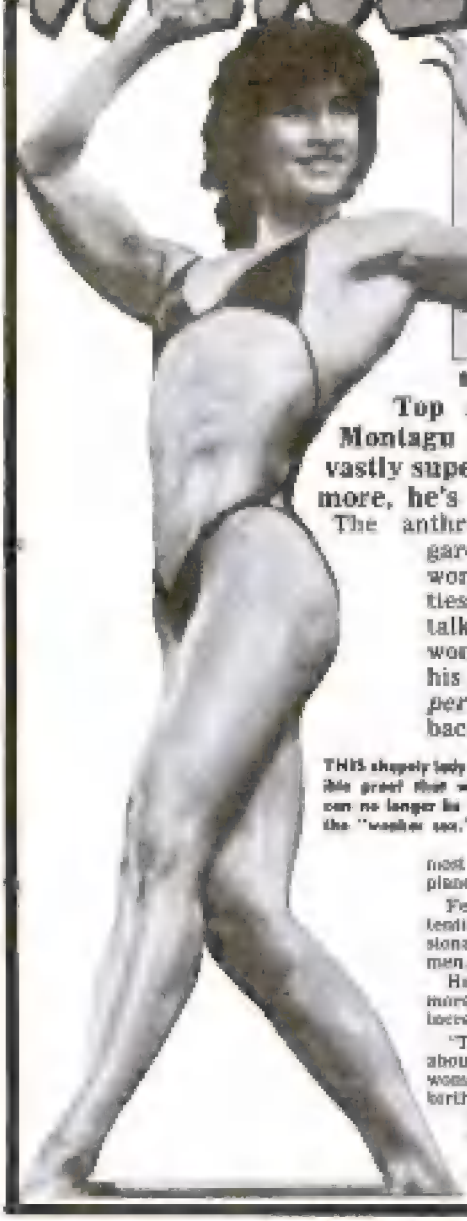
HERE'S PROOF!



Women are clearly superior to men

By CHERYL FOX

Top intellectual Ashley Montagu says women are vastly superior to men. What's more, he's got the proof!

The anthropologist, widely regarded as one of the world's leading authorities on the sexes, first talked about how much women had on the ball in his book, The Natural Superiority of Women, way back in 1953.

THIS shapely lady is visible proof that women can no longer be called the "weaker sex."

Thirty-two years have passed since that hardback hit the shelves. But Montagu professes to be more convinced than ever that women are the most highly evolved creatures on the planet.

Few would disagree with his contention that gals are more compassionate, sensitive and caring than men. But does he stop there? No!

He goes on to say that they are more honest, more intelligent and, incredibly, far stronger!

"There's not the slightest doubt about the natural superiority of women — they're superior from birth," declared Montagu. "Girls speak sooner than boys, read earlier, are quicker.

"We've known that, and we've known that females have two X chromosomes. But the fact that this gives them an immunological superiority was only discovered recently.

"And as far as intelligence is concerned, this again is becoming very evident now that females are being allowed to enter the professions ... women are Nobel Prize winners — in writing, in the sciences!"

Montagu, 80, resigned his teaching post at Rutgers University in New Brunswick, N.J., in 1958.

He bases his opinion that women are the better sex on a lifetime spent researching the subject, and he defies anyone to prove him wrong. Accordingly, Montagu believes that feminists and other gals who try to achieve equality with men are downright crazy.

They're more honest, smarter and much stronger, expert says

SUPERCAR of the future, the T-2008 above, will have some very sophisticated controls and features shown in interior view below.

The Model-T of the future

Ford Motor Co. engineers are working on a super-duper car of the future featuring incredibly fancy doodads guaranteed to knock your socks off.

Called the T-2008, this amazing car of the future will make driving a dream. Almost everything in it can be adjusted to the taste and comfort of each individual rider. For instance, the seats, called Automatic Contour Seats, fit themselves to you when you slip in. A climate control system adjusts the inside temperature to the comfort of each rider.

A tinted glass bubble surrounds the car from the doors up giving total visibility all the way around. You don't use a key to get into this car. Touching the glass cover in certain spots automatically unlocks and opens the door.

One of the most amazing features is the Automatic Guidance system that will drive the car itself at speeds of 100 m.p.h. on a specially mapped grid system installed in the highways.

The car's ride is computer controlled and linked to the suspension system altering it to road and load conditions. The computer also diagnoses any problems in the car and transmits it to the nearest service center by way of a satellite hookup.

FAMILY MASSACRE

Police say a family spat suddenly erupted into a bloodbath when a teenager armed with a butcher knife slaughtered his parents, his sister and his two little brothers.

By PETER COOKE

Police Chief Ronald Massey of Mount Vernon, Ill., said 18-year-old Thomas Odle was charged with five counts of first-degree murder following his arrest in the shocking case.

"He's calm, cool and collected," Chief Massey said. "He made a statement. He confessed."

According to Chief Massey, co-workers of Odle's father, Robert, became very concerned when he failed to show up for work at Illinois Bell Telephone, where he was a mechanic for 15 years.

"Odle was a very reliable guy and it was unusual for him not to have called if he was going to be late for work," Massey said.

The police chief said officers twice went by the Odle home in a quiet section of the southern Illinois town, but saw nothing suspicious.

At 10 p.m. another officer went to the house, looked into a bathroom window and saw the body of Robert Odle, said Chief Massey.

Police entered the home to find the bodies of five members of the Odle family.

Dead were Odle, 39, his wife, Carolyn, 38, their 14-year-old daughter, Robyn, and two of their sons, Sean, 13, and Scott, 10.

Massey said all the victims had been stabbed to death with a butcher knife except for Scott, who was strangled. All the bodies were in the master bedroom, except for the father's, whose corpse was found in the adjoining bathroom.

The slain couple's teenage son was arrested the following morning as he left a motel room with a girlfriend, according to the police chief.

Massey said the massacre apparently stemmed from "a domestic problem that had been going for months or years" between the teen and his parents.

"It's a sad case," the police chief said.

Breakfast bellyache

Police officers Paul Anselmin and Rick Doerfler didn't feel so hot after downing bacon-and-cheese omelets at a local diner. Later, the cook was arrested for adding a secret ingredient — cleaning fluid.

The Burnsville, Minn., officers were treated for throat and stomach burns and cook Dennis Ray Harvey of the Perkins Restaurant was charged with two counts of third-degree assault and two counts of adulterating food.

Police said they didn't believe there was any conflict between the 29-year-old cook and the officers. But they don't believe it was a practical joke, either.

"I don't think it was a prank," said one officer, "They could have died."

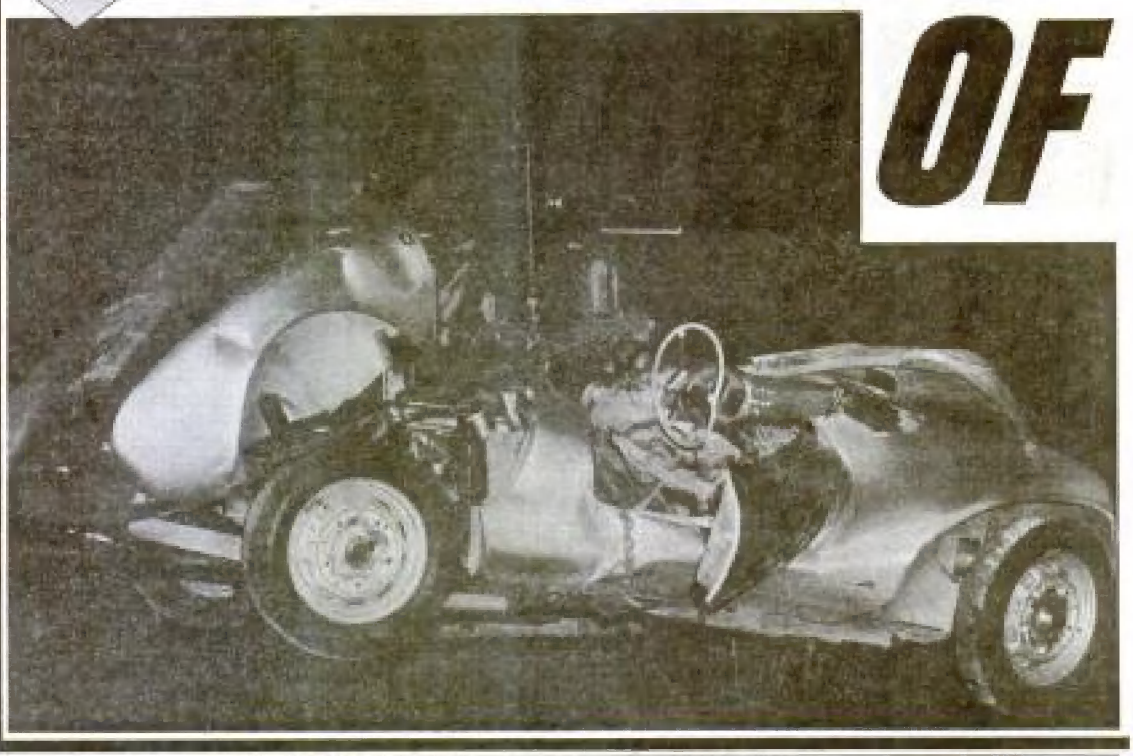
PROPHECY OF



Is Ivan fibbing about AIDS?

The Russians say AIDS has yet to penetrate the Iron Curtain — and that's precisely why Western experts are so sure it has!

The Soviet Estate-controlled press has printed only a handful of stories about the incurable disease and in each one has vehemently denied that it has been diagnosed in the Soviet Union.

Those same stories, however, labeled AIDS "a number one problem for virologists" and boasted that docs at new clinics and research facilities are working to find a cure.

Western observers who make it their business to read between the lines of Russian newspapers say that's a sure sign Kremlin bosses have ordered an AIDS coverup.

The reason for it, say the experts, might have something to do with the way AIDS is spread. Everybody knows homosexuals are mostly to blame for the epidemic. And if there's one thing the Russians despise, it's homosexuality.

The practice is a criminal act in the Soviet Union, punishable by up to five years in prison.

Spike's just a bully dog

Spike the pit bullterrier was so mean and nasty that town officials banished him from the city of Bedford, Mass. — forever!

The unprecedented action was taken after a husband and wife complained that the 45-pound pooch had ripped his way through three screen doors at their home in the pursuit of their dogs, Angus and Dougal.

Spike's owners were not named. But in a press release issued after it was decided to give the dog the boot, officials

The other kid is a real little monkey

Adam Clarkson learned to monkey around before he learned to walk because he was raised with a beast of a sister — an orangutan named Victoria.

The 2-year-old Blackpool, England, tot is the son of zookeeper Mike Clarkson, who brought Victoria home when she was just a few days old. The adorable ape's mom had refused to raise her — so Clarkson and his family took her in for seven months.

"It was like having twins," said Clarkson's wife Jackie, 28. "Adam and Victoria both had to be fed every 2 or 3 hours and have their diapers changed. It was a full-time job.

"But Vickie was so lovable that I enjoyed it — and so did little Adam."

Adam's simian sis got the same loving care as Adam did. The two little ones were bathed together, cuddled and hugged by Mom and Dad, and plunked in the same playpen to play.

"They'd play together there for hours," Mrs. Clarkson told The NEWS. "They'd pass toys to one another and build with blocks.

"Vickie plays just like a normal baby. She's very intelligent. In fact, she was better at blocks than Adam was. He learned a few tricks from her."

Adam and his furry "twin" had only one problem — the little boy just couldn't resist grabbing Vickie by her fuzzy pelt and yanking her hair out.

Mrs. Clarkson says she had to keep an eye on the two rascals to make sure Vickie didn't wind up bald.

Family life came to an end for Victoria recently, however, when zoo officials decided to send her away to London to learn to live like an ape. The London Zoo has placed her with a 2-year-old orangutan playmate so she can develop a sense of her monkey nature.

"She needs to be dehumanized," explained Mrs. Clarkson. "But I know she misses us. When we visit she runs up to us with her arms outstretched.

"We miss her very much too. It's like

Sir Alec Guinness foretold James Dean's death!

By JOE BERGER

Brooding James Dean's meteoric rise to stardom ended three decades ago in a tangle of twisted steel and shattered glass on a lonely stretch of California highway.

DOOM

'50s film idol was told he would die in this crash!

But the legendary Rebel Without a Cause might be alive today if he'd listened to the fateful prophecy of Sir Alec Guinness, who foresaw Dean's death a week before his deadly crash — and pleaded with him to stay out of the sleek new sports car that soon snuffed out his life.

Sir Alec describes his eerie encounter with the footloose film idol in his new book Blessings in Disguise, published in England by Hamish Hamilton.

It was September 1955, when the revered British actor arrived in America to make his first Hollywood movie. The picture was The Swan, and Guinness was lured to this country by the chance to appear opposite gorgeous Grace Kelly.

The flight had taken 16 grueling hours, and Sir Alec arrived in Los Angeles hungry, rumpled and dog-tired.

An old friend, Hollywood screenwriter Thelma Moss, met him at the airport and decided to whisk him off to a ritzy restaurant to celebrate his first visit to LA.

But the plan went sour when the first three eateries they visited turned them away because Thelma was wearing slacks, which a lot of folks frowned on in 1955.

The writer eventually took her pooped pal to a less pretentious joint, a quiet little Italian restaurant where she was sure they could get a bite.

But things weren't going so well there either. It was nearing closing time and all the tables were full.

"I don't care where we eat, or what," Guinness groaned as they walked off. "Just something, somewhere."

Then up walked an angel of mercy, "a fair young man in a sweatshirt and blue jeans," who offered to share his table.

But first, James Dean wanted to show them his pride and joy in the parking lot. He beamed as he pointed out the silver Porsche Spyder with a ribbon around it.

"It's just been delivered. I haven't even driven it yet," Dean boasted.

But the car, as stunning as it was, sent a shiver down Guinness' spine.

"The sports car looked sinister to me," he recalled.

"'How fast is it?' I asked the young man. 'She'll do 150,' he replied.

"Exhausted, hungry, feeling a little ill-tempered in spite of (his) kindness, I heard myself saying, in a voice I hardly recognized as my own, 'Please, never get in it!'

"I looked at my watch. 'It is now 10 o'clock Friday night, the 23rd of September, 1955,' I said. 'If you get in that car, you will be found dead in it by this time next week!'"

Stunned by his own outcry, Guinness apologized and Dean laughed it off. The trio returned to the restaurant and enjoyed their meal.

It was the last time Alec Guinness ever saw James Dean. The following Friday afternoon a screeching crash near Cholame, Calif., crumped the silver Spyder like a pack of cigarettes.

A superstar was dead, a legend was born — and a terrible prophecy was fulfilled.

FILM idol James Dean, as he appeared in his third and last film, "Giant." He died a few days after completing the film.

Zapped!

A hapless British gardener fried himself to a crisp while trying to coax earthworms from the ground with an electric pitchfork!

Authorities in Fulland, England, said the man electrified the wooden-handled tool by connecting the tines to a high-voltage power source with an extension cord.

Although dangerous, fishermen often rig similar devices to prod the ground and drive earthworms to the surface for collection as bait.

fell against the hot tines or simply forgot that the fork was plugged in to the power source and grabbed hold of them.

His name was withheld, apparently pending notification of his next of kin.
